Fair Housing Act Foes Give Up Opposition

State Referendum Movement Is Seen Shelved by Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The people who fought hardest against Ohio's new fair housing law may have decided they can live with it after all.

"We don't like it but we decided the best thing to do is to educate our members about it and live with it," said Clifford Sinclair, counsel for the Ohio Homebuilders Association.

The homebuilders and the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards led a strong lobby in the legislature against the 1965 law banning racial discrimination in housing. They challenged it on constitutional grounds.

Nothing has been said officially, but the real estate group appears about ready to abandon any plans for a drive to repeal the law on a statewide election ballot.

They had talked of a campaign to obtain 311,000 signatures to put on an election ballot a measure to repeal the law and forbid adoption of similar actions in the future. Such a campaign in California succeeded in reversing a similar housing law in the state.

A spokesman said all 76 member real estate boards had been polled on whether to seek an election, but he declined to disclose the results prior to the group's annual convention here Thursday. Some local boards have announced, however, that they had voted against an election campaign.

And time all but eliminates the question for the May primary. Signatures would have to be filed with the secretary of state by Feb. 2 to get the question on the ballot then.

The law took effect Oct. 30, covering an estimated three million Ohio dwellings. So far only 10 complaints alleging violations have been filed with the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

Ellis L. Ross, executive director of the commission, said seven complaints involve apartments—one of which was dismissed when the property owner complied during the investigation—one a vacant lot proposed as a house site, and the other two private homes.

The nine pending charges are still under investigation.

'Hot Tamales' Very, Very Hot

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Two 11-year-old boys found what they thought were "hot tamales". Demolition experts said the tamales were 200 sticks of dynamite—in a very unstable state.

Police Sgt. J.F. Armstrong, a demolition expert, said an impact of one pound could have set off the dynamite and added: "I don't know why those kids didn't get blown up."

Mark Hary and his cousin, Steven Stanley, found the sticks in a wooden box stored in an abandoned shack 100 yards from their homes Sunday. Their parents called police when the boys brought some sticks home.

Marathon Transit Strike Negotiations Are Recessed

NEW YORK (AP)—Marathon negotiations to end the city's 10-day-old bus and subway strike recessed at City Hall just before dawn today, and the chief union bargainer said they had been "completely unproductive and meaningless."

Even as the weary negotiators were leaving, the rumble of converging traffic was building in Manhattan's canyons. City officials said the commuting millions, with a week's bitter experience behind them, had started earlier on this second week of the strike.

British Plan New Terms For Rhodesia

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson is reported preparing new terms to offer the rebellious Rhodesian government. The Rhodesian regime is reported ready to negotiate.

Wilson flies today to Lagos, Nigeria, in an attempt to convince restless Commonwealth members that his Rhodesian policies are in sight of success.

Peter Bessell, a Liberal member of the House of Commons, returned from Rhodesia and said that Prime Minister Ian Smith is ready for new negotiations with Britain. Bessell said three other British lawmakers who visited the central African territory with him agree that talks should be opened quickly to prevent the collapse of Rhodesia's economy.

Wilson was expected to tell the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers today that the Rhodesian economy is being badly hurt by the oil embargo and the ban on tobacco and sugar trade imposed by Britain.

He was not expected to disclose his terms for a settlement yet. They would be announced within two or three weeks, sources said.

Wilson may also tell African leaders he is ready to turn up the heat on the white minority regime with tougher penalties that could include a ban on all trade.

89th Congress Opens Today In New Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 89th Congress begins its second session today in an atmosphere of political and economic tension as it awaits President Johnson's Wednesday night report on the state of the war in Viet Nam.

Leaders scheduled routine sessions of both houses, beginning at noon, Eastern Standard Time. The appointment of committees to notify the President of their convening and the swearing in of new members was to be the principal business.

What Johnson has to say in his State of the Union address Wednesday night about his efforts to generate Viet Nam peace negotiations—and the impact on his "Great Society" program if they fail and the war is intensified—will set the tone for the 1966 session.

There is some doubt that Johnson can forecast at this point what turn the Viet Nam situation may take.

It is generally assumed in Congress that the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets will continue at least through Jan. 24. This would represent a 30-day lull coinciding with the end of any Vietnamese New Year cease-fire which might occur.

Then Johnson would face the hard decision on whether to step up hostilities if the Communists have given no sign that they are willing to start peace talks.

While Congress has an array of left-over issues pending and Johnson may suggest a limited number of new proposals, all are overshadowed by the Viet Nam situation.

If, as anticipated, the President asks for an additional $12 billion or $13 billion in war appropriations, there will be bi-

The three defectors, all sailors, said they killed the captain of their landing craft early Sunday in a bloody mutiny which cost the lives of all six other crewmen; four of them bent on defection.

8,000 Allied Troops Hit Cong in 'Iron Triangle'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The largest U.S. fighting force of the Vietnamese war demolished a honeycomb of Viet Cong fortifications on the edge of the Iron Triangle 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, but the Communists ducked the knockout punch.

Most of the guerrillas kept away from the L.S. and Australian troops as they scorched the Communist stronghold on the third day of Operation Crimp.

Australians operating with the 1st Infantry Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered a big weapons cache left by the fleeing Communists. The haul included 47 weapons, five of them crew-size, 114 grenades, 15,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition, 58 heavy-mortar rounds, 100 pounds of dynamite, 20 tons of rice and a large store of medical supplies.

There were more than 8,000 men in the Allied force, but U.S. military spokesmen reported only light contact with the enemy, a regiment-sized force thought to be holed up in the 12 square miles of jungle and marshland.

The spokesman reported 22 Viet Cong killed, 38 captured and 269 suspects, mostly women and children detained. Allied casualties were light, they said.

Elsewhere on the ground, U.S. spokesmen reported few contacts with the enemy. But the air war in the South continued unabated with 281 strike missions against Viet Cong targets by Air Force and carrier planes. Four U.S. planes were lost in the past 24 hours.

The suspension of bombing raid on the Communist North continued into the 18th day.

Some of the tunnels and caves blasted by the U.S. and Australian troops in Operation Crimp dated back to the French Indochina fighting.

Although the huge Allied force pushed to the Saigon River boundary of the Communist Iron Triangle redoubt, it did not cross the river and attempt to sweep the triangle itself.

Protests

To Widen

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Tuskegee Institute students plan to widen the scope of their civil rights protests today by picketing and marching while seven other students demonstrate at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

A student leader, Gwen Patton, said the group in Washington consists of the closest friends of Samuel Younge Jr., 21, a student killed in Tuskegee last Monday.

Miss Patton said students from New York and the Washington area will join the Tuskegee group at the Lincoln Memorial protesting Younge's death.

Tuskegee students said they would march to the downtown area today for the fifth time in six days.

This apparently would be the first sign of protest concerning voter registration in the county. Its population of 27,000 is more than 80 per cent Negro.

After a student government meeting Sunday, leaders said they would make at least 13 demands of the City Council at a special session tonight.

One demand has been for a quick trial for Marvin Segrest, 67, a white service station attendant charged with murder in Younge's death. Segrest is in jail and has not yet asked for a preliminary hearing.

Demonstrators have also demanded more job opportunities for Negroes in Tuskegee, desegregation of public facilities, and desegregation of private clubs and schools.

The statement said the Hanoi regime doubts the sincerity of U.S. peace efforts and questioned U. S. aims in South Viet Nam.

"The North Vietnamese do not trust an offer to negotiate unconditionally," it added.

Lynd and Hayden said they talked with Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam who told them the United States had not contacted Hanoi directly nor contacted North Vietnamese ambassadors in other capitals since President Johnson spoke of knocking on any door Dec. 20.

About 50 persons at the airport met Lynd, 36; Hayden, 26; and Herbert Aptheker, 50, a theoretician for the Communist party who also made the trip.

The trio defied a State Department ban on travel to North Viet Nam, and could be jailed for five years or fined $5,000 for going without government permission. The government has not made known what action, if any it will take.

Their trip was sponsored by Viet-Report, a monthly magazine critical of U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Washington (AP)—Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee said today "an early decision must be reached" on ending the pause in bombing North Viet Nam targets. Two key Republican congressmen agreed.

"I don't see any reason to continue to keep giving them this respite," said Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, in an interview as the 89th Congress reconvened here. "They're not entitled to this holiday."

U.S. planes have not bombed North Viet Nam since before a 30-hour Christmas truce as part of President Johnson's efforts to convince Hanoi of U.S. sincerity in seeking a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war.

Although he emphasized he supported the President's peace efforts, Rivers said "the American people want to win this thing or get out."

He added: "I feel that a few well-placed bombs on military targets in North Viet Nam that have been heretofore spared — undeserved sanctuaries in Hanoi, Haiphong and other places — would make (North Vietnamese President) Ho Chi Minh reach an early decision. The American people feel he has been given enough time."

Rivers said his committee would meet Tuesday to map plans for the new congressional session.

His views on resuming bombing of North Viet Nam, similar to those expressed Saturday by the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia were echoed in separate interviews by Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, assistant house GOP leader, and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"There's a limit how long we can keep this up," said Arends, a senior member of Rivers' committee. "Some decision is going to have to be made unless we can see some tangible results — some willingness on their (the Communists') part to talk these things over."

Said Tickenlooper: "I don't see that the suspension has accomplished anything. The only result has been that the other side has been able to collect their forces. When the pressure is on they're being hurt. I think it is a mistake to stop the pressure."

Marathon Transit Strike Negotiations Are Recessed

NEW YORK (AP)—Marathon negotiations to end the city's 10-day-old bus and subway strike recessed at City Hall just before dawn today, and the chief union bargainer said they had been "completely unproductive and meaningless."

Even as the weary negotiators were leaving, the rumble of converging traffic was building in Manhattan's canyons. City officials said the commuting millions, with a week's bitter experience behind them, had started earlier on this second week of the strike.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who had summoned the parties to City Hall late Sunday, signaled the recess when he walked from the hall into freezing temperatures at 6:20 a.m., declaring: "The mediation panel has declared a recess."

He declined further comment and indicated he would have a statement some time after noon.

Moments later, Lindsay was followed by Douglas L. MacMahon, heading the union bargaining team in the absence of the union President, Michael J. Quill who was sent to jail for contempt of court but hospitalized two hours after being locked up.

MacMahon said the Transit Authority had made "no meaningful offer," and that "the mayor sat in on some of these meetings but he didn't seem to prove a help."

MacMahon said Lindsay had mentioned a $50-million figure that would cover all Transit Authority supervisory and union employees and "everyone else."

MacMahon rejected it, saying he was bargaining only for hourly paid transit workers.

Previously, the authority had offered a $29-million package, and the union's scaled-down demands stood at $216 million.

The recess ended a bargain session that started Sunday morning at the Hotel Americana and moved to City Hall late in the afternoon.

Banishment Still Faces Dominicans

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—President Hector Garcia-Godoy says he is determined to ship leaders of the 1955 Dominican revolution abroad, but he does not intend to use the Inter-American Peace Force to enforce his orders.

Garcia-Godoy said he would resort to other means to implement his decision to transfer military leaders on both sides of the April revolt out of the country.

"I have high hopes the government's decision will be carried out," the president said in an interview.

Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Camero, the armed forces minister whom Garcia-Godoy ordered replaced, said again that the military would not accept the banishment of its leaders.

The three survivors headed the 25-ton craft for Matsuo 40 minutes after leaving Foochow capital of Fukien Province which is 150 miles across the Formosa Strait from Taipei.

Nationalist Defense Ministry termed the attack "brutally inhumanitarian." It ordered its air force to give the Communists "a bloody nose" if such an incident occurred again.

The three defectors, all sailors, said they killed the captain of their landing craft early Sunday in a bloody mutiny which cost the lives of all six other crewmen; four of them bent on defection.

8,000 Allied Troops Hit Cong in 'Iron Triangle'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The largest U.S. fighting force of the Vietnamese war demolished a honeycomb of Viet Cong fortifications on the edge of the Iron Triangle 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, but the Communists ducked the knockout punch.

Most of the guerrillas kept away from the U.S. and Australian troops as they scoured the Communist stronghold on the third day of Operation Crimp.

Australians operating with the 1st Infantry Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered a big weapons cache left by the fleeing Communists. The haul included 47 weapons, five of them crew-size, 114 grenades, 15,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition, 58 heavy-mortar rounds, 100 pounds of dynamite, 20 tons of rice and a large store of medical supplies.

There were more than 8,000 men in the Allied force, but U.S. military spokesmen reported only light contact with the enemy, a regiment-sized force thought to be holed up in the 12 square miles of jungle and marshland.

The spokesman reported 22 Viet Cong killed, 38 captured and 269 suspects, mostly women and children detained. Allied casualties were light, they said.

Elsewhere on the ground, U.S. spokesmen reported few contacts with the enemy. But the war in the South continued unabated with 281 strike missions against Viet Cong targets by Air Force and carrier planes. Four U.S. planes were lost in the past 24 hours.

The suspension of bombing raid on the Communist North continued into the 18th day.

Some of the tunnels and caves blasted by the U.S. and Australian troops in Operation Crimp dated back to the French Indochina fighting.

Although the huge Allied force pushed to the Saigon River boundary of the Communist Iron Triangle redoubt, it did not cross the river and attempt to sweep the triangle itself.

Two hundred helicopters lifted the troops into action at dawn Saturday, swarming like locusts over the jungle in the biggest display of whirlybirds of the war. Hidden Communist gunners knocked down two helicopters and mechanical trouble caused a third to crash.

Participating in the operation were units of the 1st Infantry Division, paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Royal Australian Regiment. They were backed by 3,000 artillerymen manning cannon up to 175 mm in size, heavy tanks, armored personnel carriers and a cover of U.S. Air Force and Navy jets.

To prevent the Communists from learning of the mammoth drive, U.S. officials kept word of it from the Vietnamese high command until the last minute. No government troops were used.

The Communist stronghold known as the Iron Triangle has been a repeated target for U.S. 32 stratofortresses from Guam. The two shorter legs of the triangle are formed by the Saigon and Thi Tinh rivers, while Viet Cong-dominated provincial Route 7 guards the northern approach.

In one zone where the assault helicopters set down, the troops found every building in the area and a field of unharvested rice ablaze from air strikes that preceded them.

India, Pakistan Agree To End Frontier Tension

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The leaders of India and Pakistan agreed today to withdraw troops from along their inflamed frontier and work for "normal and peaceful" relations once more.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan sidestepped their quarrel over Kashmir and other major issues that have taken them to war twice in 17 years but signed a nine-point "Tashkent Declaration" aimed at lessening tension.

The declaration represented a diplomatic victory for their host, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who worked far into Sunday night to persuade his guests to end their week-long conference on a positive note even if they couldn't agree on any major issues.

The troop withdrawal is to take place before Feb. 25, with units on both sides pulling back to positions held prior to Aug. 5.

India claims that on Aug. 5 Pakistan started sending infiltrators into the section of Kashmir held by India, starting fighting that led up to the three-week war in September.

Future relations between India and Pakistan "shall be based on the principle of noninterference in the internal affairs of each other," the declaration said.

Ayub and Shastri also agreed to discourage propaganda against each other's country and exchange high commissioners again, returning diplomatic relations to normal.

The declaration said the two leaders realized that the interests of their people "were not served by continued tension." But it made clear that the chief cause of tension, the dispute over Kashmir, had not been solved.

The declaration said they had discussed Kashmir and "each side set forth its position."

Shastri and Ayub also agreed to consider measures to restore economic, trade and cultural relations and communications severed by them in September.

They also agreed to repatriate prisoners captured in the war. Along with sidestepping Kashmir, which Pakistan demanded be negotiated, Ayub and Shastri also avoided mention of the Indian proposal of a no-war pact.

The declaration said the two leaders "reaffirm their obligation under the (United Nations) Charter not to have recourse to force and to settle their disputes through peaceful means."

Ayub had refused to sign a no-war pact unless the Kashmir issue was solved.

Memorial Planned For Corregidor

SEATTLE (AP)—A Seattle architectural firm has completed plans for a $1.2-million Pacific War Memorial on Corregidor Island, designed to commemorate American World War II battles in the western Pacific.

The next step will be bids for construction of the memorial under an appropriation voted by Congress a year ago.

The memorial will feature a concrete dome supported by columns in an area 160 feet square, with an opening in the center of the dome and a round, white marble altar beneath it. A bronze monument representing an eternal flame will stand at the end of a 50-foot vista looking toward Manila, 28 miles away.

U.S. Prof Says 'Honorable' Solution in Viet Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—Yale Prof. Staughton Lynd, who made an unauthorized 10-day trip with two others to North Viet Nam, says conversations there convinced him "that many ingredients of an honorable solution exist."

Lynd and Thomas Hayden, a founder of the Students for a Democratic Society, joined in that statement at a news conference as they arrived at Kennedy Airport Sunday night.

They said North Viet Nam and the Communist-led National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) in South Viet Nam require as a condition for negotiations "an unambiguous decision" by the United States to withdraw its troops from Viet Nam.

However, the statement said, they appear willing to offer the United States "considerable freedom in choosing how to demonstrate by concrete steps that this decision has been made."

The statement said the Hanoi regime doubts the sincerity of U.S. peace efforts and questions U. S. aims in South Viet Nam.

"The North Vietnamese do not trust an offer to negotiate unconditionally," it added.

Lynd and Hayden said they talked with Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam who told them the United States had not contacted Hanoi directly nor contacted North Vietnamese ambassadors in other capitals, since President Johnson spoke of knocking on any door Dec. 20.

About 50 persons at the airport met Lynd, 36; Hayden, 26; and Herbert Apteker, 50, a theoretician for the Communist party who also made the trip.

The trio defied a State Department ban on travel to North Viet Nam, and could be jailed for five years or fined $5,000 for going without government permission. The government has not made known what action, if any it will take.

Their trip was sponsored by Viet-Report, a monthly magazine critical of U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Respite Said Not Merited

President's Peace Effort Supported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee said today "an early decision must be reached" on ending the pause in bombing North Viet Nam targets. Two key Republican congressmen agreed.

"I don't see any reason to continue to keep giving them this respite," said Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, in an interview as the 89th Congress reconvened here. "They're not entitled to this holiday."

U.S. planes have not bombed North Viet Nam since before a 30-hour Christmas truce as part of President Johnson's efforts to convince Hanoi of U.S. sincerity in seeking a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese war.

Although he emphasized he supported the President's peace efforts, Rivers said "the American people want to win this thing or get out."

He added: "I feel that a few well-placed bombs on military targets in North Viet Nam that have been heretofore spared—undeserved sanctuaries in Hanoi, Haiphong and other places—would make (North Vietnamese President) Ho Chi Minh reach an early decision. The American people feel he has been given enough time."

Rivers said his committee would meet Tuesday to map plans for the new congressional session.

His views on resuming bombing of North Viet Nam, similar to those expressed Saturday by the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia were echoed in separate interviews by Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, assistant house GOP leader, and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"There's a limit how long we can keep this up," said Arends, a senior member of Rivers' committee. "Some decision is going to have to be made unless we can see some tangible results—some willingness on their (the Communists') part to talk these things over."

Said Tickenlooper: "I don't see that the suspension has accomplished anything. The only result has been that the other side has been able to collect their forces. When the pressure is on they're being hurt. I think it is a mistake to stop the pressure."

Draft To Tighten For Collegians

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP)—Selective Service directors meeting here over the weekend held varying views on how to fill higher draft quotas, but several agreed it's going to get rougher for the college student.

"We're going to have to put the screws on the students," said Tennessee director Arnold Malone Sunday. "We will either make good students or good soldiers out of them."

"I think we all recognize the benefit to the nation of leaving a man in college as long as we can," said Lt. Gen. Erbon W. Wise, the Louisiana director. He said every effort would be made to leave qualified students in college, "but what is rapidly happening is that we are running out of manpower."

Steel Union Trims Off Batch of Plushness

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers has lost what President I. W. Abel apparently believes is some of its non-essential plushness.

Abel, who succeeded David J. McDonald as president in June, said he has trimmed a Washington hotel suite, two limousines, a chauffeur, several body guards and three secretaries from the nation's third largest union.

MIGs Down Plane Carrying Defectors

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Peking reacted swiftly Sunday to Nationalist China's jubilation at the defection of three Communist seamen and shot down an unarmed plane flying the defectors from Matsuo to Formosa.

An air search found no trace of survivors from the Nationalist seaplane. Unofficial reports said it carried 17 persons, including two officers of the Taipei Defense Ministry and four members of the Matsuo Defense Command.

The sources said four Soviet-built MIGs jumped the plane 15 minutes after it took off from the Nationalist-held island 11½ miles from the Communist mainland.

Some quarters in Taipei believed the Communists did not know the defectors were aboard the plane. They believed Peking ordered a Nationalist plane shot down in reprisal for the defection and that by chance the MIGs happened on the one with the fugitives aboard.

The first announcement by Peking radio said the Red air force had brought down a Nationalist plane when it flew over "the coastal area of East China on a harassing and sabotage mission."

The Red broadcast made no mention of who was aboard, but Defense Minister Lin Piao commended his air force for downing the Nationalist plane.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry termed the attack "brutally inhumanitarian." It ordered its air force to give the Communists "a bloody nose" if such an incident occurred again.

The three defectors, all sailors, said they killed the captain of their landing craft early Sunday in a bloody mutiny which cost the lives of all six other crewmen; four of them bent on defection.

The three survivors headed the 25-ton craft for Matsuo 40 minutes after leaving Foochow capital of Fukien Province which is 150 miles across the Formosa Strait from Taipei.

Nationalist frogmen who approached the landing craft as it entered Matsuo harbor found a boarded on the bow with the chalked inscription:

"We have come to surrender. Please accept us."

The Nationalist government hailed the defectors as heroes and told of their escape in triumphant broadcasts easily picked up in Peking.

A Purple Heart was presented posthumously last week to the parents of Lance Corporal Ronald K. Ash, who died Oct. 8 of wounds received in Viet Nam.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ash of Laurelville reported the medal, along with an award certificate signed by General Wallace W. Greene Jr., commandant of the Marine Corps, was presented by two Marine officers.

Cpl. Ash was wounded by sniper fire Oct. 2 in Viet Nam. He died six days later at Clark Air Base, Philippines.

3 Youths Bound to Grand Jury

Three youths were bound to the next term of the Pickaway County Grand Jury by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Monday on charges of strong armed robbery filed by Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams.

Pleading innocent to the charges were Robert M. Miller Jr., 18, 370 Edward Road; Clark Fout, 19, 141 Cottage Hill; Charles E. Downs, 21, Route 2, Amanda.

The alleged robbery occurred 2 a. m. Jan. 5. George King Jr., 36, Williamsport, told Deputy Adams the trio had started to take him home from a Circleville cafe.

According to King, they took him to a deserted spot near Kinderhook, beat him and took his wallet, which contained between $7 and $10.

Bond was set at $2,000 for each youth.

Police Receive Three Reports Of Vandalism

Circleville Police received three reports of vandalism and damage caused by pop bottles. Richard Blaney, who is a city patrolman, called the station at 3:15 p. m. Sunday to report someone had thrown an empty bottle at his car, causing some damage to its top.

Logan Campbell, 802 S. Pickaway, reported two cars damaged by bottles.

Charles Arledge, Abernathy Ave., discovered a window of his service station on the Lancaster Pike was broken by a pop bottle.

to challenge constitutionality of the law. Nor have any "test cases" been initiated by any civil rights groups.

The real estate lobby fought hard at the 1965 legislative session against the law which, generally, bans discrimination in sale or rental of housing except owner-occupied homes and two-unit dwellings lived in by the owner.

Ross said the Civil Rights Commission "was a little surprised" that so few complaints have been received since the law went into the books. But he cited several possible reasons.

They included an "educational" campaign by the commission staff to inform the people as to the law's coverage, hesitation of the Negro to move into all white neighborhoods "because of his reluctance to become a martyr," and "the fact that most people just don't like to move in the winter."

The housing law itself carries no penalty, the same as earlier statutes banning discrimination in employment and in places of public accommodation.

Its enforcement mechanism uses contempt of court procedure. A property owner who refuses to comply with a commission order may be taken into court. If a court order is issued and he then refuses to comply with that, he may be ruled in contempt of court.

Lad Injured Transferred To Columbus

Lee Chatts, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Chatts, Route 1, Stoutsville, received emergency care in Berger Hospital during the weekend after he fell on a stick and injured his left eye. He was transferred to Children's Hospital, Columbus. Four other persons were treated and released.

Paula A. Speakman, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Speakman, 141 Fairview Ave., fell down basement steps and injured her left shoulder.

Gordon R. Lloyd, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Lloyd, Kingston, caught his finger in a car door.

Greg Fraunfelter, 16, Route 4, suffered a laceration to his chin and lower lip while playing basketball at Logan Elm School.

Lynn Clark, 2½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Clark, 122 E. Main St., fell at home and lacerated his mouth and lip.

Soviet Urges U.S. To Talk With Cong

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet trouble-shooter Alexander N. Shelepin has called on the United States to agree to deal with the Viet Cong to end the war in Viet Nam.

Shelepin, now heading a Soviet mission to Hanoi, told a rally there Sunday that "now is the time for the U.S. to realize it is impossible to settle the Viet Nam question without the participation of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front — the authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people."

The Soviet leader, reputed to be No. 2 man in the Soviet Communist party, said American acts do not prove that the United States is willing to recognize the four-point stand of North Viet Nam. He said this stand "serves as a basis for the solution of the Viet Nam problem."

North Viet Nam's four points include a demand that the political future of South Viet Nam be settled "in accordance with" the program of the Communist Viet Cong. The United States has asked for clarification of this point and has said it would reject any political settlement allowing a Communist takeover in South Viet Nam.

Shelepin arrived in the North Vietnamese capital Friday as the head of a high-ranking Soviet delegation.

Stock Mart Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines, electronics and coppers were among gainers in an irregularly rising stock market early this afternoon.

The market advance was having tough going because traders were taking profits with the averages at the peak of a string of new highs made last week.

Aerospace defense stocks also were firm to higher as Viet Nam fighting continued on a fairly large scale.

Steels put on a wavering performance and motors were thoroughly scrambled. Rails were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .9 at 365.9 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .8 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .67 at 986.80.

partisan demands for a cut-back in antipoverty, Appalachian and other programs.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has called for lower expenditures on the space program if Viet Nam costs skyrocket.

On ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers" Sunday, he said Republicans would look thoroughly at the entire budget to see where it can be cut. "We have to find out the needs," he said. "But a lot of these programs are going to be thoroughly examined."

He specifically cited the Office of Economic Opportunity which runs the antipoverty program and said:

"I am certainly going to fight for efficiency and on the basis of the report they will make (on field studies), I can't see efficiency, and we are going to have to cut it back."

He said of a Job Corps camp at Camp Breckinridge, Ky.: "They had 756 enrollees and 250 dropouts. And they graduated the vast number of eight out of that camp. This will be an issue, believe me."

The impact on the economy of a budget of more than $110 billion Johnson is expected to submit later in the month will get close congressional scrutiny. For the time being, he has ruled out any tax increases despite the threat of inflation.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said in a statement that any proposal to increase taxes in view of Viet Nam outlays would be examined to see whether in fact it was made "merely to cover the ballooning costs of some of these new welfare programs."

Vatican Sees Poland Move As Setback in Relations

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican circles today viewed Poland's refusal to let Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski travel abroad as a major setback to the program of coexistence between Church and communism that Pope John III launched three years ago.

Vatican sources said the Polish aciton virtually doomed any chance of Polish authorities inviting Pope Paul VI to Warsaw this spring for celebrations marking the 1,000th anniversary of Christianity in the Red-ruled country.

They said the pontiff would never have considered such a trip if the Church's program of coexistence with Communist regimes on nonspiritual matters had not appeared to be going well.

The Warsaw government announced Saturday it had refused Cardinal Wyszynski an exit passport on the ground that he harmed Polish national interests during his last trip to the Vatican. The government objected particularly to the letter Polish bishops sent to Roman Catholic bishops of West Germany last month inviting them to the millenary celebration in Waraw and speaking of German-Polish reconciliation in a spirit of "mutual forgiveness."

Warsaw authorities claimed the letter gave the impression that the present Polish-German frontier is open for discussion.

Cardinal Wyszynski called on Poland's Roman Catholics Sunday to "have confidence that I did not do" — highest harm to my fatherland."

"They charge me with the gravest, most harmful wrongs," the primate told 2,000 worshippers at the Church of St. Carlo Borromeus in Warsaw. "They charge me, who has served the people for 20 years. I need not and I shall not answer them."

The cardinal and a party of Polish bishops had planned to leave Sunday night for a meeting with Pope Paul and Vatican celebrations on Jan. 13 of the millenium of the Polish Church.

Conservative elements in Roman Catholic ecclesiastical and political circles have been uneasy about the coexistence program ever since Pope John received Alexei Adzhubei and his wife, Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law and daughter, in a special audience in March 1963.

After Pope John's death three months later the Vatican's Secretariat of State continued its soundings with the Communist regimes of Eastern Europe, seeking to improve relations between the Church and local governments.

District Elk Meeting Set For Lancaster

The South Central District of the Ohio Elks Assn. will hold its winter meeting Saturday and Sunday in Lancaster.

Elks from Circleville, Columbus, Marysville, Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Newark, Athens, Ironton, Logan and Gallipolis are expected to attend the district meeting.

Registration will begin noon Saturday and a dance with entertainment will be held during the evening. The annual district ritualistic contest will be held Saturday evening and Sunday morning. Teams will be competing to represent the district in state competition in May.

There will be a party for the ladies on Sunday afternoon. The meeting will be climaxed with a dinner at 5 p. m. on Sunday.

Three Hurt In Accident

Three Columbus residents were treated at Berger Hospital early Sunday morning following a one car accident on Route 316 just east of Darbyville.

Released after receiving emergency first aid for contusions and abrasions were Carol Slane, 18; Shirley Curtis, 17; Robert Maxwell, 19.

Driver of the car was Meredith Hanson, 18, also of Columbus. He told Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams he lost control of his car when he hit an icy area on a curve.

The car left the road, hitting a utility pole. The vehicle was demolished.

Burglars Get $500 in Entry At Logan Elm

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating a burglary and theft at Logan Elm High School.

Taken from the school was an estimated $500, most of which were receipts from a basketball game Saturday night.

John Henn, executive head of the district, reported the method of entry was very similar to a burglary that occurred there a little over a year ago.

The burglary was discovered by Charles Barnhart, a custodian, at 6:27 a. m. today. Entry was gained by climbing onto the roof and dropping into an open courtyard in the center of the building.

A window was forced from there into the library.

A hole was chiseled into the vault where the funds were kept. The burglars did not bother any equipment such as projectors housed in the vault.

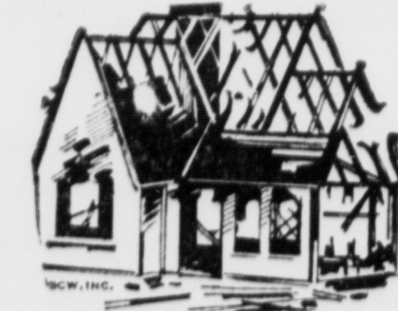

Assisting Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Deputy John Wolford with the investigation were officers from the London Bureau of Investigation.

Fair Housing

to challenge constitutionality of the law. Nor have any "test cases" been initiated by any civil rights groups.

The real estate lobby fought hard at the 1965 legislative session against the law which, generally, bans discrimination in sale or rental of housing except owner-occupied homes and two-unit dwellings lived in by the owner.

Ross said the Civil Rights Commission "was a little surprised" that so few complaints have been received since the law went into the books. But he cited several possible reasons.

They included an "educational" campaign by the commission staff to inform the people as to the law's coverage, hesitation of the Negro to move into all white neighborhoods "because of his reluctance to become a martyr," and "the fact that most people just don't like to move in the winter-time."

The housing law itself carries no penalty, the same as earlier statutes banning discrimination in employment and in places of public accommodation.

Its enforcement mechanism uses contempt of court procedure. A property owner who refuses to comply with a commission order may be taken into court. If a court order is issued and he then refuses to comply with that, he may be ruled in contempt of court.

Soviet Urges U.S. To Talk With Cong

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet trouble-shooter Alexander N. Shelepin has called on the United States to agree to deal with the Viet Cong to end the war in Viet Nam.

Shelepin, now heading a Soviet mission to Hanoi, told a rally there Sunday that "now is the time for the U.S. to realize it is impossible to settle the Viet Nam question without the participation of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front — the authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people."

The Soviet leader, reputed to be No. 2 man in the Soviet Communist party, said American acts do not prove that the United States is willing to recognize the four-point stand of North Viet Nam. He said this stand "serves as a basis for the solution of the Viet Nam problem."

North Viet Nam's four points include a demand that the political future of South Viet Nam be settled "in accordance with" the program of the Communist Viet Cong. The United States has asked for clarification of this point and has said it would reject any political settlement allowing a Communist takeover in South Viet Nam.

Shelepin arrived in the North Vietnamese capital Friday as the head of a high-ranking Soviet delegation.

Stock Mart Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines, electronics and coppers were among gainers in an irregularly rising stock market early this afternoon.

The market advance was having tough going because traders were taking profits with the averages at the peak of a string of new highs made last week.

Aerospace defense stocks also were firm to higher as Viet Nam fighting continued on a fairly large scale.

Steels put on a wavering performance and motors were thoroughly scrambled. Rails were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon were up .9 at 365.0 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .8 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .67 at 986.80.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An explosion rocked a southeast Washington church shortly after an evening service Sunday, killing one person and injuring a dozen others.

Fire officials said the blast apparently originated in the rear of the two-story brick Mount Joy Baptist church as about 100 parishioners mingled on the top floor. A choir room, kitchen and organ room were demolished.

Officials tentatively traced the explosion to a gas furnace in the church basement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson reportedly is considering expanding his Great Society program to the world's underdeveloped nations.

Administration aides are now working on legislation that could provide both food and educational help as an extension of the President's search for peace.

The program could be undertaken at relatively small initial costs, sources say.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall says automobile graveyards are a valuable natural mineral resource to be reclaimed and reused.

Copper, lead zinc and chromium impurities normally associated with automotive scrap can be at least partially removed, Udall said in an address prepared for the American Mining Congress.

The Bureau of Mines, he added, has developed a process to convert scrap into a material suitable for use as iron ore is used.

partisan demands for a cutback in antipoverty, Appalachian and other programs.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has called for lower expenditures on the space program if Viet Nam costs skyrocket.

On ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers" Sunday, he said Republicans would look thoroughly at the entire budget to see where it can be cut. "We have to find out the needs," he said. "But a lot of these programs are going to be thoroughly examined."

He specifically cited the Office of Economic Opportunity which runs the antipoverty program and said:

"I am certainly going to fight for efficiency and on the basis of the report they will make (on field studies), I can't see efficiency, and we are going to have to cut it back."

He said a Job Corps camp at Camp Breckinridge, Ky.: "They had 756 enrollees and 250 dropouts. And they graduated the vast number of eight out of that camp. This will be an issue, believe me."

The impact on the economy of a budget of more than $110 billion Johnson is expected to submit later in the month will get close congressional scrutiny. For the time being, he has ruled out any tax increases despite the threat of inflation.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said in a statement that any proposal to increase taxes in view of Viet Nam outlays would be examined to see whether in fact it was made "merely to cover the ballooning costs of some of these new welfare programs."

Vatican Sees Poland Move As Setback in Relations

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican circles today viewed Poland's refusal to let Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński travel abroad as a major setback to the program of coexistence between Church and communism that Pope John III launched three years ago.

Vatican sources said the Polish action virtually doomed any chance of Polish authorities inviting Pope Paul VI to Warsaw this spring for celebrations marking the 1,000th anniversary of Christianity in the Red-ruled country.

They said the pontiff would never have considered such a trip if the Church's program of coexistence with Communist regimes on nonspiritual matters had not appeared to be going well.

The Warsaw government announced Saturday it had refused Cardinal Wyszyński an exit passport on the ground that he harmed Polish national interests during his last trip to the Vatican. The government objected particularly to the letter Polish bishops sent to Roman Catholic bishops of West Germany last month inviting them to the millenary celebration in Warsaw and speaking of German-Polish reconciliation in a spirit of "mutual forgiveness."

Warsaw authorities claimed the letter gave the impression that the present Polish-German frontier is open for discussion.

Cardinal Wyszyński called on Poland's Roman Catholics Sunday to "have confidence that I did not do" "highest harm to my fatherland."

"They charge me with the gravest, most harmful wrongs," the primate told 2,000 worshippers at the Church of St. Carlo Borromeus in Warsaw. "They charge me, who has served the people for 20 years, I need not and I shall not answer them."

The cardinal and a party of Polish bishops had planned to leave Sunday night for a meeting with Pope Paul and Vatican celebrations on Jan. 13 of the millenium of the Polish Church.

Conservative elements in Roman Catholic ecclesiastical and political circles have been uneasy about the coexistence program ever since Pope John received Alexei Adzhubei and his wife, Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law and daughter, in a special audience in March 1963.

After Pope John's death three months later the Vatican's Secretariat of State continued its soundings with the Communist regimes of Eastern Europe, seeking to improve relations between the Church and local governments.

Vet Carrier Can Now Smile At Cold Winter Mornings

'GONNA USE IT' — Members of the Pickaway County Rural Mail Carriers Assn. Saturday honored Warren Baker with a dinner and presented him with a gift of luggage upon his retirement. In thanking the group for the gift, he noted he was "gonna use it." His first trip will be a two-month stay in Florida. Presenting the gift on the left is Manley Carothers, president of the local group of rural mail carriers, and Russell Ward (right) secretary.

By RICHARD DAVIS

Ever wonder what it would be like to get up on a cold wintry morning, look out the window and say to yourself "to heck with it!" and go back to bed?

Warren H. Baker, 317 N. Court St., knows the feeling and likes it! He retired the first of the year after completing more than 48½ years of service with the U. S. Postal Department.

"Bake," as he is known to many on his rural route, may hold a record for years of service in his chosen field. A little on the other side of 65 years, Bake hasn't known any other job. In fact, he took an examination to work for the post office before he was graduated from high school here.

Hitting almost a half century delivering mail in the country, one might think he started out in a horse and buggy. Not so, according to Baker. However, his predecessor never used anything else. But when Baker began his rural delivery he started off with a Model T Ford.

ACTUALLY his career with the post office was the fulfillment of a childhood aspiration. He claims when he was a youngster that his "idol" was the city carrier who delivered his family's mail.

Today the area he used to service is quite different. Years ago, part of his rural route included Park St., the Atwater area and other northend residential areas. There are now two city carrier routes that service only a small part of Baker's old rural delivery route.

A longtime member of the Ohio Rural Mail Carriers' Assn., he was guest of honor at a dinner Saturday evening given by the local association in the banquet rooms of Prairie Lanes.

On hand for the observance were officers of the state organization, including Lester F. Miller, president; Murray C. Lohr, service offices director; and Marshall Burt, president of the Sixth Congress-sional District of Rural Mail Carriers. Also present were members and officers of the Pickaway County unit.

Manley Carothers, president of the local group of rural carriers, served as toastmaster for the event. Russell Ward, secretary, made arrangements for the dinner session.

A gift of luggage was presented to Baker by the local organization to commemorate the occasion.

Also attending the celebration was his substitute carrier for the past seven years, Wesley Edstrom Sr.

Small in stature, but big in heart, Bake told the assembly of about 20 that he didn't "see any reason for such a big hullabaloo." He said he made a good living with the post office and it was something he wanted to do.

Bake plans to leave for Florida in February for a couple of months. When he returns he plans to spend some time on a relative's farm near Circleville.

"One thing's for sure," Bake noted, "I'm not going to sit down and watch television day and night."

In the meantime, between now and the departure time for Florida, if it's cold and snowy in the early morning he plans to get up, look out the window and say to himself "to heck with it!" and go back to bed.

Business Briefs

WILMINGTON, Del. — Grants totaling nearly $2,200,000 have been awarded to 213 colleges and universities in the Du Pont Company's annual program of aid to education, the company announced today.

The major part is for strengthening the teaching of science and engineering, particularly at the undergraduate level. Other important phases are for fundamental research and new facilities.

Du Pont's program, which started in 1918, was primarily involved with university research for many years but was broadened in recent years to cover many other needs of education. The greater emphasis on teaching in the grants for 1966 reflects the concern often expressed by educators for the need for improved teaching.

This support and encouragement of teaching, particularly of undergraduate students of science and engineering, is intended to help balance the increasing emphasis on research and development in the universities. Teaching in those fields is considered vital not only to the development of men and women for professional careers but to give liberal arts students the understanding of science they need in this technological age.

The directors of Revco, Inc., Cleveland-based chain of 120 discount drug centers, today voted a 2-for-1 stock split, issuable Feb. 25, 1966, to stockholders of record on Jan. 25, 1966. At the present time there are 592,429 shares outstanding.

At the same time, the directors also voted to increase the annual cash dividend from 40 cents to 60 cents on the old shares. The directors said the rate will be 30 cents annually after the split, in effect maintaining the increased rate of the new stock. The dividend is payable March 29, 1966 to stockholders of record on Mar. 11, 1966.

At a special meeting of the stockholders an increase in the number of authorized shares from 1 million to 3½ million was approved. Also approved was an increase in the authorized number of directors from ten to eleven.

Owens, Illinois, Inc., a leading producer of glass, plastic and forest products, will build a multi-million dollar, 900 tons per day pulp and paper mill in Orange County, Texas, on a 12,000-acre site on the Sabine River which forms the Texas-Louisiana border at that point. R. H. Mulford, president of Owens-Illinois, has announced.

The new mill will manufacture containerboard for the production of corrugated and solid fibre shipping containers. It will be located approximately 40 miles north of the Gulf of Mexico and only seven miles from the deep-water port of Orange.

The mill will produce approximately 325,000 tons of containerboard annually, Mr. Mulford said. Since a substantial part of its production will be sold in other countries of the Free World, the mill should make a sizable contribution to the U. S. balance of payments when it is in operation, he added.

The investment in the paper mill and related facilities — including 280,300 acres of Texas and Louisiana timberlands — will be in excess of $100 million, Mulford said. It will be the company's 78th domestic plant.

The new mill will help meet the nation's growing demand for the containerboard from which corrugated and solid fibre shipping boxes are made, Mulford said.

The World Today

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist world found itself embroiled today in a new and bitter dispute which could have far-reaching repercussions.

The new controversy centers around a charge by Communist China that Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro lied in saying Peking refused to carry out a plan to barter rice for Cuban sugar.

But deeper than a trade dispute is the real cause of the controversy — the Peking-Moscow struggle for leadership of the Communist world and the timing of the current disagreement.

One immediate effect of the Peking-Havana quarrel could be an internal struggle at the three-continent "solidarity" conference now under way in Havana. Some said it might produce a walkout of Red China's delegation which has found the conference heavily weighted in favor of the Soviet line. Moscow bolsters Castro's regime with economic and military aid estimated at $1 million a day.

The timing of the dispute is significant. It was begun by Castro on the eve of the Asia-Africa-Latin American meeting. He announced that his government and Red China found themselves in disagreement on a plan under which China would send rice to Cuba in exchange for sugar.

The Peking government's action has caused a cut from six to three pounds per month in the ration of rice in Cuba, where rice is a major staple of the diet.

Now the Peking government has issued a blistering statement about Castro's declaration. Stripped of its diplomatic niceties, Peking says in effect: 1. Castro is a liar. 2. Castro violated the norms of international good manners in speaking out publicly about negotiations then under way, particularly since Cuba has an official mission now in Peking to present his viewpoint. 3. Castro's timing in attacking a sister nation on the eve of the Havana conference gives broad reasons to suspect the sincerity of his motives.

Observers here are watching the new controversy closely. They wonder if North Viet Nam's Hanoi regime will be able to keep on playing it cozy with both Moscow and Peking as Castro tried to do. A high-level Soviet delegation is now in Hanoi talking things over with government leaders.

Ohio Safety Slogan To Win New Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new automobile will be an added prize with the Ohio's No. 1 license plate going to the winner of this year's annual traffic safety slogan essay contest, Ohio Safety Director Warren C. Nelson reports.

Nelson and the Ford Motor Co. made a joint announcement of the contest prize. The contest begins Jan. 17 and entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, Feb. 19.

Nelson said each entry must be accompanied by a supporting essay of 100 words or less on "Why I Believe My Slogan Will Help Reduce Traffic Accidents."

Vet Carrier Can Now Smile At Cold Winter Mornings

'GONNA USE IT' — Members of the Pickaway County Rural Mail Carriers Assn. Saturday honored Warren Baker with a dinner and presented him with a gift of luggage upon his retirement. In thanking the group for the gift, he noted he was "gonna use it." His first trip will be a two-month stay in Florida. Presenting the gift on the left is Manley Carothers, president of the local group of rural mail carriers, and Russell Ward (right) secretary.

By RICHARD DAVIS

Ever wonder what it would be like to get up on a cold wintry morning, look out the window and say to yourself "to heck with it!" and go back to bed?

Warren H. Baker, 317 N. Court St., knows the feeling and likes it! He retired the first of the year after completing more than 48½ years of service with the U. S. Postal Department.

"Bake," as he is known to many on his rural route, may hold a record for years of service in his chosen field. A little on the other side of 65 years, Bake hasn't known any other job. In fact, he took an examination to work for the post office before he was graduated from high school here.

Hitting almost a half century delivering mail in the country, one might think he started out in a horse and buggy. Not so, according to Baker. However, his predecessor never used anything else. But when Baker began his rural delivery he started off with a Model T Ford.

ACTUALLY his career with the post office was the fulfillment of a childhood aspiration. He claims when he was a youngster that his "idol" was the city carrier who delivered his family's mail.

Today the area he used to service is quite different. Years ago, part of his rural route included Park St., the Atwater area and other northend residential areas. There are now two city carrier routes that service only a small part of Baker's old rural delivery route.

A longtime member of the Ohio Rural Mail Carriers' Assn., he was guest of honor at a dinner Saturday evening given by the local association in the banquet rooms of Prairie Lanes.

On hand for the observance were officers of the state organization, including Lester F. Miller, president; Murray C. Lohr, service offices director; and Marshall Burt, president of the Sixth Congress-sional District of Rural Mail Carriers. Also present were members and officers of the Pickaway County unit.

Manley Carothers, president of the local group of rural carriers, served as toastmaster for the event. Russell Ward, secretary, made arrangements for the dinner session.

A gift of luggage was presented to Baker by the local organization to commemorate the occasion.

ALSO attending the celebration was his substitute carrier for the past seven years, Wesley Edstrom Sr.

Small in stature, but big in heart, Bake told the assembly of about 20 that he didn't "see any reason for such a big hullabaloo." He said he made a good living with the post office and it was something he wanted to do.

Bake plans to leave for Florida in February for a couple of months. When he returns he plans to spend some time on a relative's farm near Circleville.

"One thing's for sure," Bake noted, "I'm not going to sit down and watch television day and night."

In the meantime, between now and the departure time for Florida, if it's cold and snowy in the early morning he plans to get up, look out the window and say to himself "to heck with it!" and go back to bed.

Business Briefs

WILMINGTON, Del. — Grants totaling nearly $2,200,000 have been awarded to 213 colleges and universities in the Du Pont Company's annual program of aid to education, the company announced today.

The major part is for strengthening the teaching of science and engineering, particularly at the undergraduate level. Other important phases are for fundamental research and new facilities.

Du Pont's program, which started in 1918, was primarily involved with university research for many years but was broadened in recent years to cover many other needs of education. The greater emphasis on teaching in the grants for 1966 reflects the concern often expressed by educators for the need for improved teaching.

This support and encouragement of teaching, particularly of undergraduate students of science and engineering, is intended to help balance the increasing emphasis on research and development in the universities. Teaching in those fields is considered vital not only to the development of men and women for professional careers but to give liberal arts students the understanding of science they need in this technological age.

The directors of Revco, Inc., Cleveland-based chain of 120 discount drug centers, today voted a 2-for-1 stock split, issuable Feb. 25, 1966, to stockholders of record on Jan. 25, 1966. At the present time there are 592,429 shares outstanding.

At the same time, the directors also voted to increase the annual cash dividend from 40 cents to 60 cents on the old shares. The directors said the rate will be 30 cents annually after the split, in effect maintaining the increased rate of the new stock. The dividend is payable March 29, 1966 to stockholders of record on Mar. 11, 1966.

At a special meeting of the stockholders an increase in the number of authorized shares from 1 million to 3½ million was approved. Also approved was an increase in the authorized number of directors from ten to eleven.

Owens-Illinois, Inc., a leading producer of glass, plastic and forest products, will build a multi-million dollar, 900 tons per day pulp and paper mill in Orange County, Texas, on a 12,000-acre site on the Sabine River which forms the Texas-Louisiana border at that point. R. H. Mulford, president of Owens-Illinois, has announced.

The new mill will manufacture containerboard for the production of corrugated and solid fibre shipping containers. It will be located approximately 40 miles north of the Gulf of Mexico and only seven miles from the deep-water port of Orange.

The mill will produce approximately 325,000 tons of containerboard annually, Mr. Mulford said. Since a substantial part of its production will be sold in other countries of the Free World, the mill should make a sizable contribution to the U. S. balance of payments when it is in operation, he added.

The investment in the paper mill and related facilities — including 280,500 acres of Texas and Louisiana timberlands — will be in excess of $100 million, Mulford said. It will be the company's 78th domestic plant.

The new mill will help meet the nation's growing demand for the containerboard from which corrugated and solid fibre shipping boxes are made, Mulford said.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Miss Ohio Festivals of 1965 has been selected Miss Bowling Green State University of 1966. Chosen from a field of 10 finalists Saturday night was Karen Rae Kinsey, 21, a senior from Tippecanoe, Harrison County.

The World Today

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist world found itself embroiled today in a new and bitter dispute which could have far-reaching repercussions.

The new controversy centers around a charge by Communist China that Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro lied in saying Peking refused to carry out a plan to barter rice for Cuban sugar.

But deeper than a trade dispute is the real cause of the controversy — the Peking-Moscow struggle for leadership of the Communist world and the timing of the current disagreement.

One immediate effect of the Peking-Havana quarrel could be an internal struggle at the three-continent "solidarity" conference now under way in Havana. Some said it might produce a walkout of Red China's delegation which has found the conference heavily weighted in favor of the Soviet line. Moscow bolsters Castro's regime with economic and military aid estimated at $1 million a day.

The timing of the dispute is significant. It was begun by Castro on the eve of the Asia-Africa-Latin American meeting. He announced that his government and Red China found themselves in disagreement on a plan under which China would send rice to Cuba in exchange for sugar.

The Peking government's action has caused a cut from six to three pounds per month in the ration of rice in Cuba, where rice is a major staple of the diet.

Now the Peking government

has issued a blistering statement about Castro's declaration. Stripped of its diplomatic niceties, Peking says in effect:

1. Castro is a liar.

2. Castro violated the norms of international good manners in speaking out publicly about negotiations then under way, particularly since Cuba has an official mission now in Peking to present his viewpoint.

3. Castro's timing in attacking a sister nation on the eve of the Havana conference gives broad reasons to suspect the sincerity of his motives.

Ohio Safety Slogan To Win New Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new automobile will be an added prize with the Ohio's No. 1 license plate going to the winner of this year's annual traffic safety slogan essay contest, Ohio Safety Director Warren C. Nelson reports.

Nelson and the Ford Motor Co. made a joint announcement of the contest prize. The contest begins Jan. 17 and entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, Feb. 19.

Nelson said each entry must be accompanied by a supporting essay of 100 words or less on "Why I Believe My Slogan Will Help Reduce Traffic Accidents."

Use The Classifieds

Observers here are watching the new controversy closely. They wonder if North Viet Nam's Hanoi regime will be able to keep on playing it cozy with both Moscow and Peking as Castro tried to do. A high-level Soviet delegation is now in Hanoi talking things over with government leaders.

Soviet Economy Worsens

Any country which installs, by revolution, an entirely new concept in economic-political management, and discovers 48 years later that its standard of living has slipped below that of neighbors whom it once surpassed, has a right to question its direction.

That is what is going on in the Soviet Union today, as it becomes more obvious that the economic failures of the Khrushchev era have been succeeded by new failures of the current Kosygin administration.

By long odds the most obvious Soviet domestic problem is food. For the second time in three years Russia is buying huge quantities of wheat and other grains from capitalist countries. A large exporter of agricultural products in the days of the czars, Russia's severe shortages under communism have turned it into a major importer of food.

Pravda reports that not for three years has a single secondary school graduate stayed on the collective farm. Discontent among factory workers also is high, reflected in a manpower turnover as high as 30 per cent annually.

But if the average Soviet subject needed anything to impress upon him the failure of his system, he received it in Russia's desperate food situation. How is it possible, persons on both sides of the iron curtain are asking, for a powerful nation to slip so badly it now has a lower standard of living than almost any country in the world, except the truly depressed?

The land of disenchantment looks less and less rosy to those who know it best.

Expert Passers

A crack basketball team could hardly be busier passing the ball than men in Washington are in passing the buck on the federal budget. The word now is that it depends on the war in Viet Nam whether taxes will be boosted.

There is one small ray of hope to be gleaned from this performance, and this is that there is hardly likely to be an immediate resumption of the race between the two parties to see which can offer the voters the most in hand-outs at a time when everyone agrees that what the voters are crying for is economy.

Thrift, as always, is a difficult and disagreeable task. But the job can be done if all those who profess to be alarmed over the size of the federal deficit get together and work out a program instead of spending so much time passing the buck to somebody else.

37 Million Americans To Move

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 37 million Americans will change their address during 1966, but most will find new homes within the county they are living in now.

The year may be new but the custom of celebrating the start of another year isn't. Ancient Romans exchanged New Year's greetings, and so did the Egyptians as early as the 6th century, B.C.

Prosperity may be good for that U.S. pharmacists fill an average of 1.1 million prescriptions a day.

There's considerable truth to the old saying "busy as a bee." It takes a hive of bees 80,000 trips to gather the nectar for a single pound of honey.

A Japanese proverb advises, "never rely on the glory of the morning or the smile of your mother-in-law." But a study by sociologist Robert O. Blood, Jr. of the University of Michigan has disclosed that, as often as not, mothers-in-law are a help to a young couple rather than a problem.

Odd legislation: A Midwest town once had an ordinance forbidding women shoppers to try on more than six dresses in any one store.

Some 10,000 U.S. communities still don't have fluoridated water, despite its advocacy by the U.S. Public Health Service as a preventive of dental decay.

The Catholic Digest magazine reports this sign in the town square of a small Kansas municipality: "No ballplaying. No pets. No bicycle riding. No loitering. Remember, this is your park!"

Faced with a Condition

By John Chamberlain

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, who, like the Bourbons, neither learns nor forgets, has evidently decided to brazen it out in this business of compelling American fruit and vegetable growers to hire only American citizens for work on their farms. He has indicated that there will be no holds barred in 1966 in the struggle to force his theories on the embattled orchardists and tomato growers of Florida, Arizona, California and other states where agriculture creates a good portion of the Gross National Product.

Lest it seem that I am persecuting Mr. Wirtz, let me say that I think his idea of getting Americans off the relief rolls and putting them to work is highly commendable. But to adapt the phrase beloved of Grover Cleveland, Wirtz is faced with a condition, not a theory. The fact is that American citizens don't like to pick lemons and apples or harvest lettuce, no matter what the financial inducements may be. That was the reason behind importing Mexican braceros in the first place, and the reason is still good.

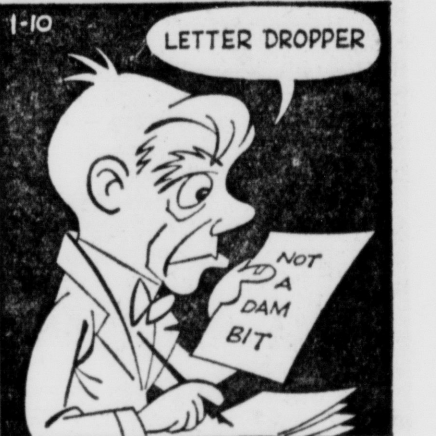

England at least one fruit grower has found it necessary to go to Puerto Rico to recruit his apple pickers for the autumn. "It is impossible to get domestic help today to pick apples, peaches and pears," so John Mark Bishop of the Bishop Farms in Connecticut writes. Then, apropos a column which I wrote recently in Puerto Rico, he says, "We have been going there for the past eight years for our vacation and to get our boys to pick apples." They come from a small town, Buena Vista, near Humacao on the south shore.

Without this help we would never get our apples harvested." California and Arizona, however, can hardly afford to go all the way to Puerto Rico for help. The southwestern states might legitimately ask Secretary Wirtz about his attitude toward the spirit behind the provision in the new immigration law which says that we should encourage newcomers who have special skills. The Mexican braceros have special agricultural, skills, even though they may not technically qualify as immigrants.

AT AMHERST, where the late Robert Frost was for many years the deeply respected "Poet in Residence," they tell a story about his reluctance to inflict written examinations on his students. For one final he had a single question to ask: "What good did my course do you?" His favorite student's reply was equally brief: "Not a dam bit." "I gave that a ninety," recalled Frost, "and I would have made it 100 if he hadn't left the 'n' off 'damn'."

Bessie Moore tells about a passel of 4-H boys from an Arkansas hamlet who came up to Little Rock for a look-see at their well-known Governor Faubus. While they were waiting for him, one of the city belles asked by a top-drawer production with platinum piled-up hair, false eye lashes, vivid lipstick, and long silver nails. One of the boys stared after her until she disappeared down the hall, then observed, "Gosh, she must have pretty poor soil to need that much top-dressing!"

Saturday's Answer

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLMAN, M.D.

What is meant by the "small hat" disease?

Paget's disease is the one that suggests itself by this description. Patients sometimes call their doctor's attention to it because their hat suddenly becomes too small and does not fit.

Paget's disease, or osteitis deformans, is a disturbance of the process of bone formation. Some bones soften, others accumulate calcium and become thickened. This thickening of the bones of the skull gives Paget's disease its sad name.

Is it dangerous to have the ears pierced? What is the safest way to do this?

Ear-lobes have been pierced for centuries, and often with the crudest instruments. Even today, some tribes pierce ears with sharply ground pieces of flintstone. Others still use equipment as bizarre as porcupine quills.

Piercing the ears is safe, yet always carries with it the possibility of infection. Even in expert hands, with carefully sterilized needles, infections do occur.

There are many refined techniques that seem to insure safety. After cleaning the earlobes with alcohol, the site is anesthetized.

Then a sterile needle is used to puncture the ear-lobe through this needle a fine strand of sterilized flexible gold or silver wire is passed.

This thread remains when the needle is removed. The wire is tied loosely and kept in place for about ten days, after which a permanent hole is left.

I believe that physicians should be the only ones permitted to pierce earlobes. They can recognize the early signs of infection that may occur and begin treatment immediately.

Some states do permit unqualified people, frequently earning salesmen, to perform the piercing.

This can be most unfortunate, especially when enthusiastic teenagers decide impulsively to have their ears pierced without the consent of their parents.

Piercing the ears is not a reversible procedure. Once done, it is too late to do anything about it. Very often, this impetuous act of adolescence is regretted at a later time.

At what age can infants coordinate their actions?

At the age of one to two months they can raise the chin and chest off the bed.

At about three or four months they can sit with support and reach for objects.

At seven or eight months they can sit and make efforts to stand by holding on to furniture.

Then comes creeping, grasping of objects and progressive advancement until they stand alone and begin to walk, at about 15 months.

The rate of development varies greatly with each child. Mothers must not be discouraged if their neighbor's child seems to be "ahead" of their own. Healthy normal children finally catch up with each other in their growth patterns.

A hot steam vaporizer must be stable and "untippable" for complete safety to children.

Faced with a Condition

By John Chamberlain

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, who, like the Bourbons, neither learns nor forgets, has evidently decided to brazen it out in this business of compelling American fruit and vegetable growers to hire only American citizens for work on their farms. He has indicated that there will be no holds barred in 1966 in the struggle to force his theories on the embattled orchardists and tomato growers of Florida, Arizona, California and other states where agriculture creates a good portion of the Gross National Product.

Let it seem that I am persecuting Mr. Wirtz, let me say that I think his idea of getting Americans off the relief rolls and putting them to work is highly commendable. But to adapt the phrase beloved of Grover Cleveland, Wirtz is faced with a condition, not a theory. The fact is that American citizens don't like to pick lemons and apples or harvest lettuce, no matter what the financial inducements may be. That was the reason behind importing Mexican braceros in the first place, and the reason is still good.

Statistically, Mr. Wirtz is claiming a big victory for the past year in his anti-foreign labor program. But Senator George Murphy of California disputes the relevance of the Department of Labor figures, and Wirtz has yet to meet Murphy in significant debate. According to Murphy, when Wirtz says that domestic farm employment in California rose by some 20,000 or 25,000 jobs in 1965, he conveniently forgets that he is counting 35,000 so-called green-card workers (Mexicans here on general permit) as "citizens," not to mention large numbers of "wet-backs" who entered the country illegally, in his sum total.

Statistics may not lie deliberately, but what good are they when they can't distinguish between an illegally employed Mexican wetback and a high school student brought to California from the Midwest for the summer? And how does one explain that the stuff put out by Wirtz in Washington about vegetable prices is contradicted by what his own Bureau of Labor Statistics reports about prices in California? Wirtz, according to Senator Murphy, overlooks "the serious losses of crops suffered by our farmers, the thousands of acres of vegetables never planted, the exodus of many farmers seeking new locations in Mexico, and the increase in wholesale and retail prices."

There are several injustices in the way that the Department of Labor has applied the law which allows it to forbid foreign bracero workers to enter the U. S. for the crop season. Senator Murphy doesn't object when Wirtz promises Florida some supplemental "off-shore" labor for sugar cane fields in 1966, but he insists that his own state should get similar treatment.

Then there are the enforced wage differentials — $1.40 an hour for California agricultural laborers as against $1.15 an hour for Arizona and Texas. Again, the anti-bracero programs helps monopolistic agriculture at the expense of the small-time orchardist or tomato grower. Only the big farmers can afford the new mechanical tomato pickers. A queer cross ripple in this business of small-versus-big is that Secretary of the Interior Udall has been talking about invoking an ancient law of 1903 which would limit federal irrigation water to farms of 160 acres or less. Could be that we'll wind up with no farm labor and the mechanical pickers in the wrong place.

In the apple orchards of New England at least one fruit grower has found it necessary to go to Puerto Rico to recruit his apple pickers for the autumn. "It is impossible to get domestic help today to pick apples, peaches and pears," so John Mark Bishop of the Bishop Farms in Connecticut writes. Then, apropos a column which I wrote recently in Puerto Rico, he says, "We have been going there for the past eight years for our vacation and to get out boys to pick apples." They come from a small town, Buena Vista, near Humacao on the south shore.

Without this help we would never get our apples harvested." California and Arizona, however, can hardly afford to go all the way to Puerto Rico for help. The southwestern states might legitimately ask Secretary Wirtz about his attitude toward the spirit behind the provision in the new immigration law which says that we should encourage newcomers who have special skills. The Mexican braceros have special agricultural skills, even though they may not technically qualify as immigrants.

Solons Calling For End To Bombing Lull

Alaska's Ernest Gruening, a leading critic of the Johnson administration's policies in Viet Nam, said, "I think the pause has been at least as successful if not more so. I think it should continue."

"I don't think there were any results from the bombing. This if not more so. We're killing fewer people. That's an improvement," he added.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, a Foreign Relations Committee member, agreed with Gruening. "We have to wait and see what will happen," he said.

In New York three Americans returned from Hanoi Sunday night and expressed the view that the North Vietnamese "do not trust" U.S. peace efforts.

Staughton Lynd, a Yale University professor who has led demonstrations here against U.S. Viet Nam policy, and Thomas Hayden, a leader of Students for a Democratic Society, said they were told by Premier Pham Van Dong that the United States had not contacted Hanoi directly since President Johnson said he would knock on any door to seek peace.

"To those with whom they spoke," Lynd and Hayden said in a statement, "it appears that the United States knocks on all doors except the doors of whom it is fighting."

The third member of the group, U.S. Communist party leader Herbert Aptheker, said he was in "general agreement." He added in a separate statement that President Johnson's policy is bringing "death to thousands of Americans" and "devastation" to Viet Nam.

Support for the U.S. peace offensive has come from most of the world's free press. Director Leonard H. Marks of the U.S. Information Agency said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation."

But Marks said "the press was skeptical that the Communists would recognize this peace offensive and want to sit down to the bargaining table and wind up the problem."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, asked in Buffalo, N.Y., Saturday night whether the peace offensive has borne any fruit, replied: "Not to my knowledge."

Arends, Gruening and Church said they felt the report on Viet Nam issued Friday night by five senators headed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was a frank appraisal of the situation.

Mansfield and his colleagues said that despite U.S. efforts the military situation in South Viet Nam was about the same as a year ago and that the present alternative was between an expanded land war that might engulf all Southeast Asia and a just peace settlement which would be difficult to attain.

But Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, an Armed Services Committee member, told an interviewer he was "surprised there was such unanimity in the report," drawn up by three Democrats, Mansfield, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, and two Republicans, George D. Aiken of Vermont and J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware.

"It struck me as unduly depressing," Miller said. "Granted that the situation is a tough one, maybe it was intended to be depressing to lay the foundation for some hard decisions by the President."

Miller said he expected to leave for Viet Nam later this week to make his own appraisal of the situation.

The House of Commons had 630 members during its last session.

Congressional Leaders Unchanged in New Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same Democratic and Republican leaders are at the helm today as Congress opens its new session.

However, there will be three change in important committee chairmanships resulting from the death of one key member and the retirement of two others.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., becomes head of the potent Finance Committee succeeding 78-year-old Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who resigned from the Senate Nov. 11, making way for his son, Harry F. Byrd Jr.

Despite his key position the elder Byrd had been unable to defeat such bills as the 1964 income tax cut or the 1965 health care for the elderly legislation.

On the House side, Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., takes over the chairmanship of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. The former head, Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, D-N.C., died Nov. 7.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., soon will make way for Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., as the new chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Harris already has been nominated and confirmed as a U.S. district judge in his home state. He has said he will resign from the House Feb. 3.

Floor leaders of the House and Senate were elected at party caucuses in January 1965, for the two-year duration of the 89th Congress.

Continuing in these posts are: SENATE — Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana; Democratic whip, Russell B. Long; secretary of the Democratic Conference, George A. Smathers, D-Fla.; Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois; Republican whip, Thomas H. Kuchel of California; chairman of the Republican Conference, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts; secretary of the Republican Conference, Milton R. Young of North Dakota.

HOUSE — Speaker, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts; Democratic leader, Carl Albert of Oklahoma; Democratic whip, Hale Boggs of Louisiana; chairman of the Democratic Conference, Eugene J. Keogh of New York; Republican leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan; Republican whip, Leslie C. Are of Illinois; chairman of Republican Conference, Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin.

The Senate will have the same party lineup this year as in 1965 — 68 Democrats and 32 Republicans.

In the House there are 293 Democrats and 140 Republicans with two vacancies. These result from the resignations of Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., elected mayor of New York City, and Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., named U.S. ambassador to the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

Doctor Uses Radio To Tell Treatment for Fisherman

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston doctor dictated treatment by radio today to fellow crewmen of a fisherman who incurred a deep head wound aboard a trawler pounded by strong winds and high seas off Cape Cod.

The fisherman, Harry Ingram, about 62, suffered a gash from the right ear to the right eye, was bleeding badly and was reported near death.

The Coast Guard cutter Acushnet was ordered out of Provincetown and reached the trawler, Rush, some 120 miles east of Woods Hole. The Italian passenger liner Christoforo Colombo, bound for New York, was diverted from its course to aid in the rescue.

A Coast Guard medical corpsman was put aboard the Rush.

When it was determined there were no ships with doctors aboard in the immediate vicinity of the Rush, a radio relay was set up between the Public Health Hospital, the Coast Guard and the trawler, the Coast Guard said.

"Pack off the wound with gauze or whatever type sterile bandage you have aboard, wrap it tight and apply pressure and ice," Dr. John Ratino, spoke into the hospital radio transmitter.

Ratino said the crewmen replied that they were having a difficult time controlling the bleeding.

They dropped anchor but the severe jarring motion of the boat in 18-foot seas and 50-mile-an-hour winds was making the bleeding worse, the fishermen said.

"Now take his pulse," Ratino said. "One hundred," came back the reply. Ratino said a normal pulse rate is 70.

"Make up a sugar and water solution and administer it by mouth," the surgeon directed. This was to help increase the blood volume and body energy.

Ingram was in "borderline shock," Ratino said but re-

DiSalle Holds Highest Dem Cards, But Remains Coy about His Plans

By REED SMITH
AP Political Analyst

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Continuing efforts of Democratic leaders to field a slate of state office candidates against Republican incumbents make it increasingly clear that former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle holds the high cards.

But DiSalle, who enjoys the game of political poker, is playing it coy.

Without appearing at a candidate screening committee session, DiSalle emerged as the key figure in the party scramble.

Until DiSalle makes his desires known, even those leaders who discount him as titular head of the party appear stymied.

They find it awkward to make recommendations to the Democratic state committee until DiSalle discloses his plans "the latter part of this month."

After three years of enforced emerges in position to beat any other prospect for the gubernatorial nomination.

They include Cleveland Council President James V. Stanton, who says he has discussed his prospect at length with the former governor, and State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Toledo, advanced by fellow Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown as "stop DiSalle" candidate after Reams announced for lieutenant governor. Reams said he would be amenable to such a shift in candidacy.

State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman, who termed Reams "a very attractive boy," said he planned to confer with DiSalle soon and expressed the hope that the former governor would disclose his plans before screeners meet again Jan. 17.

DiSalle would say only that the "latter part" of January starts on the 15th. That's the date of a party DiSalle is throwing for newsmen and others at his home here.

Nothing has happened so far that is surprising," DiSalle asserts.

He referred to declarations of three oft-mentioned gubernatorial possibilities for other offices.

sponded somewhat at times.

Ratino said he also relayed instruction to the medical corpsman aboard the Acushnet on what to do when he reached the injured man. He told the corpsman to administer an intravenous substitute-blood solution.

A hospital spokesman said the treatment-by-radio arrangement is run by doctors in off-duty hours and that the study is rotated among staff members.

Similar situations arise frequently, the spokesman said.

State Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, Ohio AFL-CIO president, announced that, instead of going for governor, he would seek re-election in the hope of becoming majority leader if Democrats take over the Senate in the Nov. 8 election under reapportionment.

Some described King's decision as evidence that organized labor felt the time to bid for the governorship is not yet at hand.

House Minority Leader A. G. Lantione of Bellaire also announced that he would seek re-election rather than run for the top spot on the ticket.

And Congressman At-Large Robert E. Sweeney of Cleveland said earlier he would challenge Cuyahoga County Recorder Mark McElroy for nomination as attorney general, a post McElroy formerly held.

Sweeney's move was interpreted by some as indicating that the national administration, which backed him for Congress, may have written off Ohio election prospects.

In 1964, President Johnson Handily carried Ohio which Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon had won by a narrow margin four years earlier.

But Republicans questioned whether Democrats could hold their Ohio gains in view of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' drive for new and expanded industry to create more jobs in those areas and the rest of the state.

DiSalle, obviously aware of the situation, says that no two Ohio campaigns are alike.

"Ohio is well known for monumental election shifts," DiSalle said. "One party may win by a landslide and lose by a landslide two years later."

"I have participated both ways," he said truthfully in recalling that he swamped Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill in 1958 only to be buried under a Republican advance in 1962.

An attractive young British scientist, Baroness Jane van Lawick-Goodall has lived in Tanzania for five years to observe the details of chimpanzees' life and ways.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Air Force Times, in its current edition, says Lockbourne Air Force Base south of here will be closed within the next few years, but the Pentagon says there are no such "firm plans."

All bases are under continuing evaluation, one Pentagon spokesman reminded, and another said the base's mission might be changed in the future but with no indication of how.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Continuing efforts of Democratic leaders to field a slate of state office candidates against Republican incumbents make it increasingly clear that former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle holds the high cards.

But DiSalle, who enjoys the game of political poker, is playing it coy.

Without appearing at a candidate screening committee session, DiSalle emerged as the key figure in the party scramble.

Until DiSalle makes his desires known, even those leaders who discount him as titular head of the party appear stymied.

They find it awkward to make recommendations to the Democratic state committee until DiSalle discloses his plans "the latter part of this month."

After three years of enforced emerges in position to beat any other prospect for the gubernatorial nomination.

They include Cleveland Council President James V. Stanton, who says he has discussed his prospect at length with the former governor, and State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Toledo, advanced by fellow Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown as "stop DiSalle" candidate after Reams announced for lieutenant governor. Reams said he would be amenable to such a shift in candidacy.

State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman, who termed Reams "a very attractive boy," said he planned to confer with DiSalle soon and expressed the hope that the former governor would disclose his plans before screeners meet again Jan. 17.

DiSalle would say only that the "latter part" of January starts on the 15th. That's the date of a party DiSalle is throwing for newsmen and others at his home here.

Nothing has happened so far that is surprising," DiSalle asserts.

He referred to declarations of three oft-mentioned gubernatorial possibilities for other offices.

sponded somewhat at times.

Ratino said he also relayed instruction to the medical corpsman aboard the Acushnet on what to do when he reached the injured man. He told the corpsman to administer an intravenous substitute-blood solution.

A hospital spokesman said the treatment-by-radio arrangement is run by doctors in off-duty hours and that the study is rotated among staff members.

Similar situations arise frequently, the spokesman said.

State Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, Ohio AFL-CIO president, announced that, instead of going for governor, he would seek re-election in the hope of becoming majority leader if Democrats take over the Senate in the Nov. 8 election under reapportionment.

Some described King's decision as evidence that organized labor felt the time to bid for the governorship is not yet at hand.

House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione of Bellaire also announced that he would seek re-election rather than run for the top spot on the ticket.

And Congressman At-Large Robert E. Sweeney of Cleveland said earlier he would challenge Cuyahoga County Recorder Mark McElroy for nomination as attorney general, a post McElroy formerly held.

Sweeney's move was interpreted by some as indicating that the national administration, which backed him for Congress, may have written off Ohio election prospects.

In 1964, President Johnson Handily carried Ohio which Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon had won by a narrow margin four years earlier.

But Republicans questioned whether Democrats could hold their Ohio gains in view of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' drive for new and expanded industry to create more jobs in those areas and the rest of the state.

DiSalle, obviously aware of the situation, says that no two Ohio campaigns are alike.

"Ohio is well known for monumental election shifts," DiSalle said. "One party may win by a landslide and lose by a landslide two years later."

"I have participated both ways," he said truthfully in recalling that he swamped Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill in 1958 only to be buried under a Republican avalanche in 1962.

An attractive young British scientist, Baroness Jane van Lawick-Goodall has lived in Tanzania for five years to observe the details of chimpanzees' life and ways.

Air Force Times Says Lockbourne To Close

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Air Force Times, in its current edition, says Lockbourne Air Force Base south of here will be closed within the next few years, but the Pentagon says there are no such "firm plans."

All bases are under continuing evaluation, one Pentagon spokesman reminded, and another said the base's mission might be changed in the future but with no indication of how.

Engagement Announced

MISS DEBORAH RIDLON

Mrs. Emory Francis Ridlon of Richmond, Va., formerly of Circleville, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Deborah, to Mr. Thomas Leon Culbertson of Cambridge, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Grant Culbertson, North Royalton, O.

Miss Ridlon, daughter of the late Mr. Ridlon, is a 1962 graduate of Denison University, Granville, O., and a 1963 graduate of Katharine Gibbs Special Course for College Women. She is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority and is employed by Harvard University.

Mr. Culbertson is a 1962 graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, O. He attended Graduate School of Theology, Oberlin College and will graduate this year from Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge,

Mrs. Wood Addresses CAC Members

Mrs. Jessica Wood, case worker for the Juvenile Court, was guest speaker when the Child Advancement Club met in the home of Mrs. Joe Smith.

Mrs. Paul Hoskins, president, conducted the business session. She read an appropriate message concerning the new year. Mrs. Darl McAfee and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer of the philanthropic committee gave a report on the Christmas gifts purchased and delivered to a deserving family.

Mrs. Wood reviewed cases for 1964 and questions asked. She said, "Rehabilitation, not punishment" was their aim. She also stated that truancy has become a big problem in Circleville. The court tries to work with the parents to correct these and other situations. Mrs. Wood added that discipline needs to begin in the cradle.

The speaker also reviewed three recent cases brought before the court. A discussion on these cases followed.

A dessert course was served to 14 members. Mrs. McAfee was co-hostess.

Next month will be an Old Timers Party and Guest Night. Invitations will be sent to anyone who has been a member.

Mrs. Deal Addresses Solaqua GC

Mrs. Ada Lou Deal, presented a demonstration using the theme, "Show Your Love with Flowers" when members of the Solaqua Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Jennie Russell. Mrs. James Hott and Mrs. Charles Taes were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Deal, a florist, displayed several arrangements showing the newer trend by using attractive containers, suitable for the occasion or person. Unusual toys with permanent arrangements and story books for the younger set were featured. Suggestions were given for hostess flower gifts, new babies and hospital planters. She also gave helpful hints on the care of cut flowers and gift arrangements.

Mrs. Taes read Scripture and led the group in The Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Bernard Savey, president, conducted the business session and reports were read and approved.

Mrs. Everett Peters was program chairman. Mrs. Boyd Hines received the special project prize. A contest on jumbled flowers was won by Mrs. Savey.

Mrs. Taes gave a paper on "Things To Do This Month" including repairing garden tools, planning seed and plant purchase, spraying for scale on shrubbery and removing snow from evergreens.

Refreshments were served to 20 members.

Personals

Miss Mary Jane Watt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Watt, 540 N. Dear Abby: A Real Snowball!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A colonel suggested that a service wife with a grievance against her husband would get quicker results by writing directly to her husband's commanding officer rather than to her congressman. I am a retired Army major, and hear this:

One lady, whose philandering husband ran my operations section, wrote to me with her complaints. I called the sergeant in and we had a little chat. Then I sat down and wrote the wife the usual letter: "I have discussed the matter with your husband, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera." Well, it seems this gal was singularly unimpressed with my "etceteras," so she unlimbered her typewriter and gave out with an encore. She wrote not only to her congressman, but to both her senators, and to the chief of staff, and to the adjutant general, and to the secretary of state and the secretary of defense. And to top the matter off, she wrote to the President of the United States and Mrs. Eisenhower!

Abby, you should have seen the fan mail I got from Washington! Those who lived through it still speak in awed whispers of the "Great July Blizzard of 1964." But that was one operations sergeant who really got straightened out in a hurry. Sincerely,

"HONEST AL"

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and in our house we have this rule: Nobody can accept a telephone call during supper time. Well, I have told this to all my friends, but this one girl, no matter how many times I tell her, always calls me during the supper hour and I have to say, "I'll call you back later," but she says, "I just want to say this one little thing," and then she goes on talking, and then I get into trouble. I have even tried hanging up on her, but she calls back. My family would never just let the phone ring, so this puts me in a very awkward and embarrassing position. Please help me.

B.G.: Don't answer the telephone during mealtime, and if she calls, ask whoever answers the phone to say that you are having your supper and cannot leave the table.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me why people will not make reservations for dinners at civic clubs and church doings. Then they show up at the last minute, sometimes bringing a guest or two. They seem to think that "One or two more" won't matter, but if you have to feed 25 or 30 more than you planned on, it makes a whale of a lot of difference. I would like to have the hat they think we pull our food out of.

NO MAGICIAN DEAR NO: Those who do not make reservations but show up anyway are divided (like Gaul) into three parts: The lazy, the thoughtless and the disorganized.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 10, the 10th day of 1966. There are 355 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1870, the Standard Oil Company was incorporated, opening a new era of U.S. business and economic life.

On this date In 1737, the Revolutionary War leader of the "Green Mountain Boys" Ethan Allen, was born in Litchfield, Conn.

In 1861, Florida seceded from the Union.

In 1917, frontiersman and showman William (Buffalo Bill) Cody died.

In 1920, the League of Nations came into being.

In 1942, the Japanese invaded the Dutch East Indies.

Ten years ago—The Rt. Rev. Arthur Ramsey, bishop of Durham, was officially approved as archbishop of York.

Five years ago — The ruling Soviet Communist party Central Committee opened a week-long meeting in Moscow to consider Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals for agricultural reform.

One year ago — It was announced that the Congo government had executed more than 500 suspected of being rebels.

Findlayite To Head Ohio's Auctioneers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hobart Farthing of Findlay has been elected 1966 president of the Ohio Association of Auctioneers. Meeting here Sunday, the association also elected Neil Robinson of Mansfield vice president, Newt Dilgard, Ashland, Richard Babb, Wilmington, ladies' auxiliary president.

Dominicans Still Seek Democratic Government

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—This is an unhappy little country of more than 3 million people looking for democratic government.

In the last 35 years it has been governed mostly by a tyrant and lately by administrative chaos and political violence.

Half the size of Ohio, the Dominican Republic is potentially rich in agricultural terms. Its wealth, by conservative estimates, gave the tyrant Rafael Leonidas Trujillo a fortune of some $500 million in 31 years.

Poking fun at themselves, Dominicans like to say they are rich enough to support two armies: one military, the other political.

The trouble is, they add in the same vein, the country is not big enough for both.

In a sense, this is fundamentally the cause of the country's plight.

To the politicians, the army represents Trujillo and all his repressive, freedom-choking thirsts. On the other side many army officers fear that the politicians want to wreck the military establishment to open the doors to communism.

This classic struggle for power has been papered over with political labels, slogans and euphemisms until it is barely recognizable.

Still, the outlines of old dictator Trujillo and Trujilloism are unmistakable to eyes familiar with the Dominican scene.

Some political observers here like to measure the residual strength of Trujilloism in two recent developments:

1. In the 1962 elections, the conservative candidate, Viriato Fiallo, seemed to have the presidency clinched until he spoke out against Trujillo followers, the army included. It's generally agreed this turned the vote tide toward leftwing moderate Juan Bosch.

2. Once in power, Bosch seemed invincible — until he went against the Trujillo and the army. He was tossed out in seven months.

Last April's revolution, one of the most violent in Latin-American history, was a clash essentially between the same military — backed by the still formidable ranks of civilian Trujillo followers — and its opposition, moderately leftist nationalists, anti-Trujillo conservatives and their sympathizers.

GOT RICH QUICK—Actress Joey Heatherton is celebrating her 21st birthday in Los Angeles by taking personal possession of $4,000 in government bonds which were held for her by the county clerk until she came of age. The bonds were purchased for her under a 1964 court order when she signed a minor's movie contract.

Among the latter were army dissidents who hungered, and still do, for a change in the armed forces establishment from a quasi-political, nearly autonomous entity to a purely military institution.

A firefight Dec. 19 between army regulars and former rebel fighters was a violent reminder of the nearly irreconcilable differences between the two factions.

This has raised questions as to the wisdom of trying to integrate the two military groups, a fundamental step set forth by the Organization of American States in the peacemaking formula it hopes will hasten the country's political and economic rehabilitation.

It's hardly a secret that while the military hierarchy has pledged full support to the provisional government, it fears President Hector Garcia-Godoy, an aristocrat with liberal leanings.

These fears have led the military leadership into acts of disobedience, even of near-rebellion.

University Honors Late Clarence Brown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr., the weekend before his swearing-in today as Republican congressman from Ohio's 7th District, saw a plaque in honor of his father presented to Washington & Lee University's law school.

The elder Brown, who died last Aug. 24 during his 14th term in Congress, was a 1916 W. & L. law school graduate. The plaque was presented Saturday by W. & L.'s Clarence J. Brown Law School Young Republican Club, which recently added the late congressman's name to its title.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Jan. 10, the 10th day of 1966. There are 355 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1870, the Standard Oil Company was incorporated, opening a new era of U.S. business and economic life.

On this date

In 1737, the Revolutionary War leader of the "Green Mountain Boys" Ethan Allen, was born in Litchfield, Conn.

In 1861, Florida seceded from the Union.

In 1917, frontiersman and showman William (Buffalo Bill) Cody died.

In 1920, the League of Nations came into being.

In 1942, the Japanese invaded the Dutch East Indies.

Ten years ago—The Rt. Rev. Arthur Ramsey, bishop of Durham, was officially approved as archbishop of York.

Five years ago — The ruling Soviet Communist party Central Committee opened a week-long meeting in Moscow to consider Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals for agricultural reform.

One year ago — It was announced that the Congo government had executed more than 500 suspected of being rebels.

Findlayite To Head Ohio's Auctioneers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hart Farthing of Findlay has been elected 1966 president of the Ohio Association of Auctioneers. Meeting here Sunday, the association also elected Neil Robinson of Mansfield vice president, Newt Dilgard, Ashland, Richard Babb, Wilmington, ladies' auxiliary president.

Dominicans Still Seek Democratic Government

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—This is an unhappy little country of more than 3 million people looking for democratic government.

In the last 35 years it has been governed mostly by a tyrant and lately by administrative chaos and political violence.

Half the size of Ohio, the Dominican Republic is potentially rich in agricultural terms. Its wealth, by conservative estimates, gave the tyrant Rafael Leonidas Trujillo a fortune of some $500 million in 31 years.

Poking fun at themselves, Dominicans like to say they are rich enough to support two armies: one military, the other political.

The trouble is, they add in the same vein, the country is not big enough for both.

In a sense, this is fundamentally the cause of the country's plight.

To the politicians, the army represents Trujillo and all his repressive, freedom-choking thirsts. On the other side many army officers fear that the politicians want to wreck the military establishment to open the doors to communism.

This classic struggle for power has been papered over with political labels, slogans and euphemisms until it is barely recognizable.

Still, the outlines of old dictator Trujillo and Trujilloism are unmistakable to eyes familiar with the Dominican scene.

Some political observers here like to measure the residual strength of Trujilloism in two recent developments:

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be a pleasure to be able to report that the weekend shows were a joy — that Sammy Davis' premiere program was a smash, that Jackie Gleason's pocket musical was inventive and tuneful, and that "The World of the Teen-ager" illuminated a problem.

It would be a pleasure but it wouldn't be quite true.

Taking first things first, there was NBC's "Sammy Davis Jr. Show" Friday night. The producers thought of almost everything — dramatic and colorful sets, attractive musical arrangements, Sammy serving up samples of the things he does well. There was even the extraordinary sight of Elizabeth and Richard Burton singing a slightly off-key duet.

Apparently, however, they overlooked the need for word-smiths. Davis was given the dull sort of lines, mostly consisting of "Gee whiz, folks, I'm so excited to have my own show." Even Mrs. Burton's daring décolletage failed to divert some of us from the famine of dialogue.

Davis, the singer, dancer and impressionist, was impressive but Davis, the host, was a bore.

It was pleasant to have three of the old "Honeymooners" gang back together again on CBS Saturday night. Trixie, the fourth member, was alleged to be visiting her mother in New Jersey. But Alice, Ed Norton and Ralph Kramden were back in that basic Brooklyn flat.

But once there, they couldn't seem to decide whether they were doing a comedy sketch or a musical. The songs were draped on the comedy sketch like ornaments on a Christmas tree. Thus the plot would roar along with Ralph constantly threatening to land one on Alice or Ed. Then there would be a pause and one or another would walk up to the camera and sing a little song.

The free-wheeling story about adopting a baby may bring some fiery complaints from adoption agencies and Jackie certainly overplayed his big emotional scene, weeping over the bassinet. Even so it was fun to have Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Gleason yelling at each other. Some of the slight tunes were catchy, if hardly memorable.

According to NBC's special Sunday night, "The World of the Teen-ager" is a prison where life is dull, adults don't understand them, and the pressures are fierce.

The documentary was made in Lexington, Mass., concentrating on a few of the community's 4,130 teen-agers — apparently the sulky-looking ones ready to complain about their restraints

Steel Compromise Ends Dispute

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The second round of the running price battle between the steel industry and the government ended during the week with both sides compromise winners.

The conflict began with Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s New Year's Eve announcement of a $5 on price increase for structural steel.

Bethlehem, the No. 2 steel producer, said the increase was justified by the demand for new lightweight structural shapes, which take more mill time to produce.

The company said that even with the price increase the cost to consumers was less than it was five years ago.

President Johnson and his economic advisers denounced the price boost as unjustified, inflationary and unpatriotic.

Early in the week, Inland Steel Co. went along with Bethlehem's $5 hike.

This was a new role for Inland, which in 1962 — during the first round of the industry-government price war — refused to follow a general price rise initiated by U.S. Steel.

On that occasion, the late President John F. Kennedy rolled out the government's big pressure guns and forced the steelmakers to back down and rescind the raise.

Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp. was the next to fall in line with Bethlehem's move but announced only a $3 increase.

Then the government went into action in an effort to force a rescission.

Three agencies which direct virtually all the government's structural steel buying — the Defense and Commerce departments and the General Services Administration — issued orders not to buy from companies which raised prices.

By this time all attention was

Good Old Dad

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Guy Goodwin was prosecuting a criminal trial in federal court here and on cross-examination fired questions at a witness faster than the witness could answer.

Presiding Judge Wesley E. Brown finally broke in. "My father used to say," he told Goodwin, "The hardest thing to do is to hear with your mouth open."

Goodwin chuckled, bowed, and replied: "I recognize the wisdom of your father."

Geese make faithful watchdogs, determined shepherds, efficient field hands and good companions.

and disciplines.

The boredom of the young made the program a thoroughly depressing hour and one that shed little light.

focused on the question: What will U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, do?

It announced a $2.75-a-ton increase on structural steel and a $9.1-ton decrease on cold-rolled sheets produced in California.

The White House accepted

U.S. Steel's boost as within its price guidelines. Bethlehem and Inland backed down.

The compromise set off a stock market surge that carried the averages to new all-time highs.

Roger Blough, U.S. Steel chairman who was the key figure in the 1962 confrontation, was reported to have conferred with the Johnson administration

8 The Circleville Herald, Mon. Jan. 10, 1966
Circleville, Ohio

before making his announcement. But he wouldn't confirm it.

Blough said he would be very surprised if the price increase for structural shapes caused inflation.

Structurals represent only about 7 per cent of the total steel market.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

BERTHED—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, 80, shown taking his ease in retirement, is in serious condition following a stroke and is in Oakland Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet in World War II, is remembered, among other things, for a shipboard speech before the battle of the Coral Sea in which he said, "Be alert, men, or your wives will get a chance to squander your insurance." Twenty-three Jap warships were sunk.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dync®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

BERTHED—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, 80, shown taking his ease in retirement, is in serious condition following a stroke and is in Oakland Naval Hospital. Oakland, Calif. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet in World War II, is remembered, among other things, for a shipboard speech before the battle of the Coral Sea in which he said, "Be alert, men, or your wives will get a chance to squander your insurance." Twenty-three Jap warships were sunk.

Big Future Is Seen for QB Matte

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tom Matte, who almost quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts into the National Football League championship game, led them to a 35-3 victory over Dallas Sunday in the consolation tilt. The performances pose for Coach Don Shula the problem of what to do with Matte next season.

"I don't know," said Shula. "I guess I'll have to keep the Matte offense in our play book, though."

Matte, in only his third professional game as quarterback, was voted the outstanding player in the playoff game before 65,569 in the Orange Bowl. He earned the award on his passing.

When he was first rushed into the quarterback breach because of injuries to John Unitas and Gary Cuozzo, Matte had a slim repertoire of plays, mostly running. Still the Colts defeated Los Angeles 20-17 and in a playoff for the Western Conference title lost 13-10 in overtime to Green Bay.

Matte passed 17 times against the Cowboys, completing seven. Two of them went 15 and 20 yards to Jimmy Orr for touchdowns. Two more of 37 and 52 yards set up second period touchdowns which gave Baltimore a 14-3 halftime edge.

Defendant

W. Ralph Holmes, whose place of residence is No. 5400 Loughborough Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, 63109, will take notice that on Friday, December 17th, 1965, the undersigned filed her petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, in Cause No. 24391, praying for a divorce, restoration to her former name of Lucille M. Holmes, and such other and further relief as may be just and proper in the premises, on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. Said cause will be for hearing on and after the 1st day of February, 1966.

for almost four quarters. Neither team could muster more than an eight-point lead, that coming with 4:07 left in the game, with the Pirates from Central leading 50-42.

But Teays Valley quickly retaliated with a full court press and cut the gap to 51-49, as Gayle Fosnough hit a 10-foot turn around jump shot. Then with 44 seconds left, forward Mike Stone calmly stepped to the foul line and connected on both ends of a one-and-one proposition to bring the Vikings within one.

But then on, TV had to foul to try to get possession of the ball. The Pirates cacked in on four of six last minute attempts from the charity stripe to put the game out of reach.

BOTH TEAMS displayed fine efforts during the course of the game. Central tended to fastbreak most of the contest, while TV played a more controlled type offense.

Butch Kinsell led the Vikings with 16 markers coming on six field goals and four foul shots. Fosnough followed with 13. Rod Teets hauled down 14 rebounds to lead in that category. Gerald Green was the assist leader with six.

Rugged, but quick Bob Chandler was the do-everything man for Central as he hit for 24 markers. He always came in for the key basket or pass, whichever was needed.

The Vikings had a rather dismal night as the reserves were on the short end of a 44-25 decision in the preliminary tilt.

Both Viking and Pirate fans were entertained with a fine demonstration by the local Davis Demons Drum Corps.

Next weekend, the Vikings get back into the league wars as they host the Falcons from Franklin Heights on Friday night. Saturday night, Fairfield-Union invades TV land.

BB Gun Championship Shoot Set for July

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A first annual International BB Gun Championship for boys and girls age 7-14 has been scheduled for Vandalia, Ohio, July 8-10. U. S. Jaycees President James A. Skidmore announced at the state convention Sunday that the Jaycees will cosponsor the event with the Daisy Manufacturing Co.

Arnie Starts New Year as Meet Winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's no better way to start a new year than by winning, especially if you've been losing.

Arnold Palmer was the author of this sentiment today, and he brought the point into sharp focus by starting 1966 off with first place — and $11,000 — in the 40th annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer headed for the Palm Springs desert country today for some television golf work and most of his fellow pros took off for the next event on the new winter schedule, the $45,250 San Diego Open coming up this weekend.

Palmer won the Los Angeles fixture for the second time, but it wasn't as easy as most everyone had figured in Sunday's final round at the Rancho Municipal course — par 35-71.

He shot a two-over par 73 and won by three strokes with a 72-hole total of 273.

Palmer's sensational 62 Saturday sent him into the final round with a lead of seven strokes over Bill Casper Jr., and nine shots over two rivals who, it developed, gave him a large scare, Paul Harney and Miller Barber.

But as matters turned out, Barber's 67 matched that of Harney, and they tied for second at 276.

Aching Pole Vaulters Sets Meet Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An American record in the most spectacular event sends the 1966 United States indoor track season off to an auspicious start, thanks to a man with an aching back.

Veteran John Pennel pole vaulted 16 feet, 7¼ inches Saturday night as the final competitor in the third annual Examiner Invitational meet to erase the 16-6 record set last year by Billy Pemelon.

The 25-year-old AAU champion, who says a chronic back ailment continues to give him trouble, cleared the height on his third try to the full attention of the Cow Palace audience since all other events had been completed.

Although he sailed over the bar with height to spare at 16-7¼, he missed three times going at 16-9 in a bid to surpass the world's best—a 16-8 effort in 1963 by Finland's Pentti Nikula.

Two Kansans with speed and stamina highlighted the running events. Nineteen-year-old Jim Ryan won the mile in 4:02.1, clipping 3.5 seconds off the Cow Palace record, and John Lawson upset Gerry Lindgren in the two-mile with 8:40.4, a meet record.

SPORTSMEN URGE
Park Fee System

CLEVELAND (AP) — The League of Sportsmen's directors will ask this week that a system of fees should be set up for the users of Ohio's state parks and their facilities.

The fees should be on both resident and nonresident bases, the league says. Both motion will be presented Thursday in Columbus at a hearing by the Division of Parks and Recreation.

The league, which met Saturday, reaffirmed its decision to oppose any of the boating regulation changes proposed by the Parks Division except one.

The league agrees with the use of low-powered, battery-operated electric motors of five horsepower and under on all state-owned parks.

Laurelville Takes VH Tilt By 65-63 Count

Laurelville withstood an Allensville rally Saturday, defeating the visitors, 65-63, in a Vinton-Hocking League cage game.

The Wildcats are undefeated in the VH cage loop with six victories. Allensville is now 4-2 in the league, with both losses coming at the hands of Laurelville.

Rick Unger exploded for 33 points, canning 12 field goals and nine charity tosses. He also pulled 21 rebounds off the boards for the Wildcats.

Dwight Woodward also hit the double figure scoring column for the winners with 17 markers.

GRAVES had 16 for the losers.

The Wildcats led throughout, although the visitors cut their margin to one point with less than a minute to go.

Also remaining undefeated in VH action was the Laurelville reserve unit, 59-33, winners over the Allensville junior varsity.

The Wildcats play Zaleski Friday in the Vinton-Hocking League.

Circleville Tigers Come from Behind To Defeat Franklin Heights, 54-50

By STEVE JONES

Circleville's Tiger staged a valiant comeback Saturday night at Franklin Heights, defeating the Falcons, 54-50, after trailing by as much as 15 points in the first half.

The win was the second for Chuck Hill's varsity squad. It came on the heels of a setback by South Central Ohio League cellar dweller, Washington C. H., previously winless.

The tilt started in the same fashion as the Tigers' six previous, losses. By the end of the quarter, Circleville had connected on only two field goals, although pumping away 15 times. They trailed, 19-6.

At one point near the end of the second period, the Tigers trailed, 30-15. By halftime, the score was 30-19.

HILL's halftime pep talk produced the desired effect on the Tigers. Midway through the third period, they began to narrow the margin separating the two teams. With about four minutes to go in the canto, the Tigers were down, 36-23.

And then with 3:46 showing on the clock, Jim Diltz canned a pair of charity tosses to narrow the margin to 11. Danny Gibbs hit his first field goal of the night 30 seconds later and the Tigers trailed by nine.

In the remaining three minutes, Diltz scored six points, Danny Speakman four and Joe Winner two. Going into the final canto, the Red and Black trailed, by three, 42-39.

For the first six minutes of the final canto, the teams traded points. Then Speakman hit a field goal that brought Circleville within one point.

Seconds later the Tigers stole the ball, Speakman flipped a pass to Mike Martindill who was under the basket. The little guard who moved into the vacant spot left by Tim Stonerock's injury, put Circleville ahead for the first time since the opening basket. The score was 51-50 at this point.

Speakman hit a pair of free throws shortly after that. Then Martindill capped the scoring with a charity toss with 29 seconds remaining.

DILTZ's 18 points, coming on seven field goals and four foul shots, paced the CHS offense. Speakman contributed 12 markers, Joe Winner, nine, Martindill six, Gibbs five, Roger Grigg two and Rick Congrove two.

For Franklin Heights, George Walters and Ray Malone shared scoring honors. Both had 11 points. Rick Blount added 10 for the losers.

The Tigers' comeback was not a spectacular rally, but rather an exhibit of fundamentally good basketball. They switched to a man-to-man defense. On offense they became a little more deliberate, particularly with their shooting.

Although Circleville had a 13.3 per cent accuracy average in the first period, they finished the game with a 35.2 per cent shooting rate from the field.

FRANKLIN Heights converted 21 of 71 shots for a 29.5 per cent average.

Circleville's next action comes Friday when the locals travel to Miami Trace for a South Central Ohio League game.

Arnie Starts New Year as Meet Winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's no better way to start a new year than by winning, especially if you've been losing.

Arnold Palmer was the author of this sentiment today, and he brought the point into sharp focus by starting 1966 off with first place — and $11,000 — in the 40th annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer headed for the Palm Springs desert country today for some television golf work and most of his fellow pros took off for the next event on the new winter schedule, the $45,250 San Diego Open coming up this weekend.

Palmer won the Los Angeles fixture for the second time, but it wasn't as easy as most everyone had figured in Sunday's final round at the Rancho Municipal course — par 36-35-71.

He shot a two-over par 73 and won by three strokes with a 72-hole total of 273.

Palmer's sensational 62 Saturday sent him into the final round with a lead of seven strokes over Bill Casper Jr., and nine shots over two rivals who, it developed, gave him a large scare, Paul Harney and Miller Barber.

But as matters turned out, Barber's 67 matched that of Harney, and they tied for second at 276.

Aching Pole Vaulter Sets Meet Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An American record in the most spectacular event sends the 1966 United States indoor track season off to an auspicious start, thanks to a man with an aching back.

Veteran John Pennel pole vaulted 16 feet, 7 1/4 inches Saturday night as the final competitor in the third annual Examiner Invitational meet to erase the 16-6 record set last year by Billy Pemerton.

The 25-year-old AAU champion, who says a chronic back ailment continues to give him trouble, cleared the height on his third try to the full attention of the Cow Palace audience since all other events had been completed.

Although he sailed over the bar with height to spare at 16-7 1/4, he missed three times going at 16-9 in a bid to surpass the world's best—a 16-8 effort in 1963 by Finland's Pentti Nikula.

Two Kansans with speed and stamina highlighted the running events. Nineteen-year-old Jim Ryun won the mile in 4:02.1, clipping 3.5 seconds off the Cow Palace record, and John Lawson upset Gerry Lindgren in the two-mile with 8:40.4, a meet record.

Sportsmen Urge Park Fee System

CLEVELAND (AP) — The League of Sportsmen's directors will ask this week that a system of fees should be set up for the users of Ohio's state parks and their facilities.

The fees should be on both resident and nonresident bases, the league says. Both motion will be presented Thursday in Columbus at a hearing by the Division of Parks and Recreation.

The league, which met Saturday, reaffirmed its decision to oppose any of the boating regulation changes proposed by the Parks Division except one. The league agrees with the use of low-powered, battery-operated electric motors of five horsepower and under on all state-owned parks.

Laurelville Takes VH Tilt By 65-63 Count

Laurelville withstood an Allensville rally Saturday, defeating the visitors, 65-63, in a Vinton-Hocking League cage game.

The Wildcats are undefeated in the VH cage loop with six victories. Allensville is now 4-2 in the league, with both losses coming at the hands of Laurelville.

Rick Unger exploded for 33 points, canning 12 field goals and nine charity tosses. He also pulled 21 rebounds off the boards for the Wildcats.

Dwight Woodward also hit the double figure scoring column for the winners with 17 markers.

GRAVES had 16 for the losers.

The Wildcats led throughout, although the visitors cut their margin to one point with less than a minute to go.

Also remaining undefeated in VH action was the Laurelville reserve unit, 59-33, winners over the Allensville junior varsity.

The Wildcats play Zaleski Friday in the Vinton-Hocking League.

IGA, Scioto Elks, Oilers Win Games

In Teays Valley Independent league action Sunday, Ashville IGA defeated Noel's King Boy, 85-78, Circleville Oil stopped Commercial Point, 87-72, and Scioto Elks downed Grove City, 88-57.

Tom Hampton notched 46 points for the Elks as they romped to their win over Grove City. For the losers, Stigmyer was high with 20 markers.

Tom Harber scored 26 to pace Circleville Oil to a win. Commercial Point's attack was led by Jon Warden with 20.

Dick Tucker had 23 points in a winning effort for Ashville IGA, although game scoring honors went to Carvel Simmons of Noel's King Boy who tallied 32.

Circleville Tigers Come from Behind To Defeat Franklin Heights, 54-50

By STEVE JONES

Circleville's Tiger staged a valiant comeback Saturday night at Franklin Heights, defeating the Falcons, 54-50, after trailing by as much as 15 points in the first half.

The win was the second for Chuck Hill's varsity squad. It came on the heels of a setback by South Central Ohio League cellar dweller, Washington C. H., previously winless.

The tilt started in the same fashion as the Tigers' six previous, losses. By the end of the quarter, Circleville had connected on only two field goals, although pumping away 15 times. They trailed, 19-6.

At one point near the end of the second period, the Tigers trailed, 30-15. By halftime, the score was 30-19.

HILL's halftime pep talk produced the desired effect on the Tigers. Midway through the third period, they began to narrow the margin separating the two teams. With about four minutes to go in the canto, the Tigers were down, 36-23.

And then with 3:46 showing on the clock, Jim Diltz canned a pair of charity tosses to narrow the margin to 11. Danny Gibbs hit his first field goal of the night 30 seconds later and the Tigers trailed by nine.

In the remaining three minutes, Diltz scored six points, Danny Speakman four and Joe Winner two. Going into the final canto, the Red and Black trailed, by three, 42-39.

For the first six minutes of the final canto, the teams traded points. Then Speakman hit a field goal that brought Circleville within one point.

Seconds later the Tigers stole the ball, Speakman flipped a pass to Mike Martindill who was under the basket. The little guard who moved into the vacant spot left by Tim Stonerock's injury, put Circleville ahead for the first time since the opening basket. The score was 51-50 at this point.

Speakman hit a pair of free throws shortly after that. Then Martindill capped the scoring with a charity toss with 29 seconds remaining.

Tiger Team Loses, 34-27

The Circleville Junior Varsity lost to Franklin Heights, 34-27, Saturday.

It was the seventh loss in eight starts for Kelly Boyer's quintet.

The little Tigers trailed 6-2 at the end of the first period and 15-8 at halftime.

They rallied to knot the score, 22-22, as the fourth frame got under way. However, they could not maintain their third period scoring rate in the final frame, finishing seven points behind the host school.

FOR CIRCLEVILLE, Craig Lambert notched 14 points on two field goals and 10 charity tosses. Bob Tootle and Tom Wright had three each, Jeff Steele, Dave Horst and Lynn Heath each notched two. Mike Melson scored one point.

Chuck Reiter tallied 12 markers for the winner.

DILTZ'S 18 points, coming on seven field goals and four foul shots, paced the CHS offense.

Speakman contributed 12 markers, Joe Winner, nine, Martindill six, Gibbs five, Roger Grigg two and Rick Congrove two.

For Franklin Heights, George Walters and Ray Malone shared scoring honors. Blount had 11 points. Rick Blount added 10 for the losers.

The Tigers' comeback was not a spectacular rally, but rather an exhibit of fundamentally good basketball.

They switched to a man-to-man defense. On offense they became a little more deliberate, particularly with their shooting.

Although Circleville had a 13.3 per cent accuracy average in the first period, they finished the game with a 35.2 per cent shooting rate from the field.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS converted 21 of 71 shots for a 29.5 per cent average.

Circleville's next action comes Friday when the locals travel to Miami Trace for a South Central Ohio League game.

Mighty Dayton-UofC Clash Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — What shapes up as Ohio's best basketball clash so far this year comes up Wednesday when once-beaten Dayton clashes with one of its bitterest foes, potent Cincinnati.

Baron Rupp Is Raising Another Top Cage Crop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Adolph Rupp, an official of the Agricultural Hall of Fame, has raised another blue ribbon basketball crop.

The nation's winningest active coach, Rupp suffered the worst season in his 35 years at Kentucky last winter when the Wildcats compiled a 15-10 record, marking the first time they ever had lost 10 games under Rupp.

They weren't given much of a chance to do any better this year, but Rupp suddenly finds himself with a squad that has sprouted into the nation's second-ranked team with 10 victories and remains one of only two undefeated major teams.

Rupp's skills, however, do not stop at raising pedigreed basketball players.

The 64-year-old Kansas native has one of the largest farms in the Kentucky area, serves on the board of governors of the Agricultural Hall of Fame and National Agricultural Center and is in his 13th term as president of the Kentucky Hereford Association.

He also is in his 36th year as Kentucky coach, and for the ninth time the Wildcats have won their first 10 games of the season.

Rupp has done it this time with only two seniors on his starting five — Tommy Kron and Larry Conley. The other three, sophomore Thad Jaracz and juniors Pat Riley and Lou Dampier, are the big scorers on the team.

Jaracz scored 26 points Saturday night as the Wildcats made Florida their 10th victim, 78-64. They'll try to make it 11 tonight in a Southeastern Conference game with Georgia, then rest until Saturday when they take on their toughest opponent so far, third-ranked Vanderbilt.

The Commodores, led by Clyde Lee's 22 points, increased their record to 12-1 Saturday by whipping Georgia 77-63. Lee's performance gave him 1,409 career points, most ever for a

Eastern Pro Cage Stars Are Favored

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of the favored East squad have the day off before Tuesday night's 16th annual National Basketball Association All-Star Game but the underdog Western player are scheduled to have a workout.

Red Auerbach, the Boston Celtics coach who heads the East, said he called off the drill because some of his 10 players would not be here in time.

Most observers felt the West will need every little break it can get in the series where the East now holds a 10-5 advantage. The last time the West won was in 1962 when Fred Schaus of Los Angeles also was in command. Schaus coaches the West again this year.

The teams, composed of the pick of the league's two divisions, will clash before some 12,500 persons in the Cincinnati Gardens.

The Celtics' chief, who has coached every All-Star Game since 1957, will start with a lineup consisting of John Havlicek and Sam Jones of Boston; Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of the Cincinnati Royals and either Boston's Bill Russell or Phil Chamberlain of Philadelphia.

Schaus' lineup is headed by Jerry West of Los Angeles. The other starters will be Bailey Howell of Baltimore and three San Francisco Warriors—rookie Rick Barry, Nate Thurmond and Guy Rodgers.

The Western reserves are Rudy LaRusso of Los Angeles, Elmo Beatty of St. Louis, Baltimore's Don Ohl and two Detroit players, Dave DeBusschere and Eddie Miles.

Rounding out the East squad are Willis Reed of New York, Adrian Smith of Cincinnati, and Hal Greer and Chet Walker of Philadelphia.

Circleville, O.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 is expected to cram Cincinnati Gardens for the annual tiff between these two cage giants.

Dayton boosted its record to 10-1, rearing from behind Saturday night to dispose of strong DePaul, 81-70.

The Bearcats weren't as lucky as a late rally fell short and the Queen City five bowed to Tulsa, 73-71.

Cincinnati (9-2) holds a 26-21 advantage in this drama-packed series and has triumphed eight straight times. The Flyers have not won in the Gardens since the 1953-54 season.

The game should pit the Bearcats' all-around balance against Dayton's tough one-two scoring punch of Hank Finkel and sophomore Don May.

May went on another scoring points. Cincinnati got 24 points from Roland West in the two-point road setback.

In other action over the weekend, Akron copped its ninth straight by disposing of Marietta 77-63. The Zips, who won the Ohio Conference tournament last season, hold a firm grip on the OC top spot with a 6-0 showing.

Ohio State, playing aggressively, led most of the way but finally yielded to All-American Cazzie Russell and his Michigan mates, 83-78.

Russell, hitting a torrid 76 per cent from the floor, canned 32 points to overshadow a fine performance by rookie Bill Hosket who scored 24 and snared 13 rebounds for the Bucks.

Miami, with a 2-0 record, moved out front in the Mid-American Conference Chase with an easy 94-69 conquest of Toledo. Little Phil Snow led the way with 24.

In other MAC frays, Marshall built up a 20-point bulge in the first 10 minutes and bombed Kent State, 104-87, and Bowling Green stunned Western Michigan at Kalamazoo, 87-81.

In others, Mount Union upset Otterbein, 81-75, despite 38 points by the Otter's Don Carlos; Wittenberg kept its hopes alive for an OC crown by edging Hiram, 69-65; Marquette ripped Xavier, 103-64; Findlay (9-2) rolled over Aquinas (Mich.), 107-93; Lincoln (Mo.) surprised fourth-ranked Central State, 117-101 and Niagara handed Youngstown its first defeat, 87-67, leaving Akron as the Buckeye State's only unblemished team.

Elsewhere, Nick Pallotta bucketed 39 but his Walsh team bowed to Cedarville, 83-81, Ashland held onto first place with Bluffton in the Mid-Ohio by beating Wilmington, 66-57; Bluffton stopped Malone, 91-79; and Heidelberg topped Capital 82-76; Wooster routed Muskingum 81-49; Oberlin socked Ohio Wesleyan 76-55; and Baldwin-Wallace belted Denison, 94-76.

Farm-City Forum Slates Firestone Man as Speaker

STEWART B. STEINER

Stewart B. Steiner, a member of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company's public relations staff, will be guest speaker at this year's Farm-City Forum.

The Forum, sponsored as an annual event by the Pickaway County Farm Bureau, will be conducted Jan. 17 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building, starting at 11:45 a. m. This marks the third consecutive year for the popular program.

The yearly gathering is designed to create a better understanding between farmers and the business and professional men of the community.

All Farm Bureau members and interested persons are invited to bring business friends and guests. Tickets are now on sale throughout the county.

STEINER has been with Firestone for 22 years. In his present assignment in public relations, he prepares technical articles for trade publications, compiles speech materials for company representatives and works on special public relations assignments particularly concerned with the company's subsidiaries.

He is a native of Powhatan Point, O., in Belmont County.

Flying Assn. Will Host Scout Troop

A troop of Explorer Boy Scouts will be the guests of Circleville Flying Assn. when it holds its January meeting here Wednesday.

Ronald O'Conner, newly elected president of the group of aviation enthusiasts, said the Explorer troop is headed by Pete Knox. It was hinted the Scouts "probably will talk themselves into some free flight time before the program ends."

In addition to the welcome given the Scouts, O'Conner said the program would include two motion picture films. One of them, issued by the Federal Aviation Agency, will concern approach and departure controls.

O'Conner heads a corps of officers elected by the flying association last month. Other officers are: Dwight Grubb, first vice president; M.S. Ruth Montellus, second vice president; Bob Miller, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Ray Carroll, safety officer.

The Wednesday session is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the Desert Room at Prairie Lanes. O'Conner stressed that the association's meetings are open to the general public.

Year in Senate Changes Actor-Dancer Murphy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The spring is still in his step and he still has the Irish good looks, but a year has brought an immense change in George Murphy.

No more the dancer-actor nor the film executive, Murphy today is beginning his second year as the junior senator from California. Before departing for the start of the second session of the 89th Congress, Murphy took some rare repose in his local office to discuss his new life.

Sen. Murphy breezed into his suite in the new Federal Building looking distinguished in a well-tailored gray suit with vest. Sitting with his back to the Los Angeles Civic Center, he commented on the first session of the 89th.

"It was pretty hectic," he said. "Everything had the mark of urgency on it, and we were too rushed. Once I discovered a bill that didn't have a number on it. Even I knew there was something wrong about that."

"I agree with Mike Mansfield that the coming session will be more of a process of refining what has already been passed. I think that's a necessary step, and I have proposed a Senate bureau of investigation to discover what has happened to legislation after it has been passed."

The California Republican said that he hasn't become integrated into the Washington social scene.

"I live in a hotel and my wife stays at our Beverly Hills home because she can't travel," he remarked. "But I'm here a great deal of the time — at least every two weeks. I don't believe you can legislate for the state of California without being in California and knowing about the problems."

"It's hard work, but I don't mind. I've been working since I was 15, and I'm used to it. Each day brings new challenges. It's an exciting and a gratifying life."

Cincy Slows Collection of District Tax

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County auditor wants some property owners to take their time about paying taxes — at least until a suit is filed to block collection of a conservancy district assessment.

Auditor Fred Morr said last weekend he expects the suit to be filed well before the Feb. 10 deadline for county taxes.

About 50,000 property owners in the eastern part of the county received their tax bills last week. The bills included an assessment of 30 cents per $1,000 for the Little Miami River Conservancy District, which includes parts of five counties.

The district made its assessment last fall, but ran into trouble when David Myers, a reporter for the Wilmington News-Journal, filed suit in Clinton County Common Pleas Court.

Myers' suit contends the assessment is unlawful because the conservancy district's directors did not submit it for approval to the people or local government officials. The Hamilton County suit is expected to follow the same lines.

The conservancy district includes parts of Clinton, Clermont, Greene, Hamilton and Warren counties. The assessment is not being collected in any of them.

A ruling on Myers' suit is expected soon.

OSU Nursing School Gets Federal Grant
